'NOTHING NEW'

Most Oppose, Some 'Study'

With one exception, North County mayors and civic leaders reacted angrily today to San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto's suggestion that portions of San Mateo and Marin counties be merged with San Francisco.

One mayor suggested annexing part of San Francisco.

United opposition to the suggestion came from Daly City, South San Francisco and Brisbane.

Alioto's only defender popped up in Pacifica, where Mayor Grace McCarthy wanted to look the offer over.

The proposal, mentioned by Alioto at a press conference and at a meeting with Marin County supervisors on Monday, was made by the San Francisco mayor as "a natural and needed outgrowth" of the joint economic efforts he has been urging.

To Marin officials, he said, "Isn't the final answer to our tax problems the political merger of the counties, the core city and bedroom communities?"

He added that "after an economic merger, we're going to have to look at these boundaries realistically and perhaps have a complete merger of San Francisco and San Mateo counties, or at least as far down as the airport."

Alioto is reported to have made the same proposal to San Mateo County supervisors last week, and appointed a committee to work with them in drawing up an agenda for a June meeting on mutual problems of the two counties. He expressed the hope that mergers be made by 1975.

Reaction Tuesday to publication of his views was swift.

U. R. (Jack) Kendree a long-time resident of Daly City and prominent business and civic leader, said he would oppose Mayor Alioto's annexation moves "most strongly."

Kendree said San Francisco could only "take away from . . . and add very little to the North County."

"I like our city. If I liked a larger urban area I would live

S.S.F. OFFICIALDOM RED-FACED

2 'Half-Nude' Hippie Girls Roam City Hall

By DON GRIERSON

Though the new Otto Preminger movie, "Skidoo," is billed as a comedy, it is safe to predict that some of South San Francisco's more strait-laced citizens will not be noticeably amused by the scene filmed Friday in their city council chambers.

Traipsing about the normally staid and official seat of the city's government were two half-naked hippie girls, oblivious to both the walnut-paneled officialdom and a red-faced administrative staff.

The girls, at least one of whom was a professional actress playing a hippie in the movie, were covered above the waist by only a rather thin coat of psychedelic body paint.

At least two other females in the scene were made up as "simulated nudes," and will doubtless look authentic enough in the film.

Though City Hall was officially open to the public Friday, traffic into the building was limited to those with "important business," and policemen were stationed at every doorway to keep out the children, the curious and the lecherous.

Did Preminger "spring" the nude scene upon unsuspecting city officials? There was no way to determine for certain Friday, but from the strained atmos-

S.S.F. to Re-do Road Section That 'Rippled'

Tests conducted Monday indicate both lanes of the 600-foot section of Westborough Boulevard in South San Francisco which "rippled" last week will have to be replaced, Public Works Director Louis Goss said.

Goss said his office has estimated the repair job will cost approximotely $31,460.

This figure is based upon bids received on a contract to repair the single eastbound lane. Lowrie Paving Company enttred a low bid of $23,940 on that contract Friday.

Goss said the surface asphalt will be removed from the street, and the rock base will be treated "in place" with concrete in a process which will add to the strength of the base material by about 10 per cent.

Mayor Patrick Ahern and members of the council authorized City Manager Eugene Aiello to proceed with the project on an emergency basis, and establish financial responsibility for the road work after it is completed.

The street has not yet been dedicated to the city, and Caesar-Callans Homes, Inc., developers of the Westborough area, still "own" the road, according to councilmen.

Aiello is meeting with the Callans today to discuss the repair project.

The road deteriorated "over night" two weeks ago after water seeped into the base material from an unknown source, and the section between Callan Boulevard and Galway Place has been closed to traffic.

The city opened a temporary detour Saturday.

Year-Old Idea

Westlake's Homeowners Still Waiting on Gymnasium

One year after the idea was first proposed, members of the Westlake Improvement Association are still waiting for the green light to begin construction of a gymnasium adjacent to the present Westlake Park Clubhouse in Daly City.

At a joint meeting between directors of the Association and the Daly City council last week, an attempt to work out details concerning the joint venture got a little further off the ground, but failed to arrive at a firm agreement.

The Association has pledged to donate some $40,000 towards the gym, with the city picking up the balance — an estimated $120,000 plus.

Exactly wnere the city would get the necessary funds has not been solved and city manager Edward Frank flatly stated he doesn't know where the added funds will come from.

The proposed gym would also feature locker and shower rooms, in addition to the larger recreational facility. An all-electric kitchen was also expected to be included in the final plan.

Frank said it would be impossible for the city to raise the balance of the money during the coming year and informed both sides the city can't commit itself at this time, at least until the budget (for the coming year) is set.

Councilman Frank Pacelli said there was a definite need for the facility in the area "and these people have already come up with their end of the bargain (the $40,000)."

Pacelli's fellow councilmen agreed and asked the staff to get the matter to a point where the city could see what the exact cost of the gym will be.

One suggestion, which both sides tentatively agreed was the best solution to the priblem of financing, was to have the facility built by an "outside" agency and sign a lease-purchase agreement for it, similar to the way the new Civic Center was purchased.

The "pay as you go" plan would insure that the gym was completely constructed and could be fully utilized by the association and public immediately, rather than waiting while the expansion programs were carried out over a period of years.

Broadmoor Policeman Is Injured

A Broadmoor police officer was pitched over his patrol car early Sunday when it was struck by another auto while he was at the scene of a prior accident.

Highway patrolmen said the incident happened at 2:25 a.m. on El Camino Real at Gollins Avenue in Colma.

A car driven by Robert E. Dooley Jr., 18, of 2680 Comstock Circle, Belmont, had been involved in a minor accident, officers said.

Patrolman William G. Shaffer, 33, pulled up behind the youth's auto and was standing in front of the patrol car when it was struck from the rear by a sedan driven by Eugene E. Olsen, 46-year-old San Francisco mechanic.

As the patrol car shot forward, it caught Shaffer and flipped him into the air. He landed at the rear of the vehicle.

Shaffer and Olsen were admitted to Mary's Help Hospital. Shaffer sustained rib injuries and Olsen suffered head injuries. Both suffered extensive bruises and lacerations as well.

'Arbitrary' Sign Rejection By Planners Is Charged

A public hearing on a use permit application for a new billboard sign on Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco was postponed at Monday's council meeting because of the absence of City Planner Daniel Pass.

Pass, who was called out of town on a family emergency, is "at the center" of the controversy over the sign, according to the spokesmen for the applicant, Bell Electric Company.

A representative for the firm told councilmen the planner and members of the planning commission denied the sign permit request "arbitrarily, and in opposition to the city's sign ordinance as it now stands."

"Pass recommended denial of this permit merely on grounds that he is opposed to any more signs in the area," the spokesman said. "As the city's present ordinance stands, the proposed billboard sign is perfectly legal, and the planning commission's action was prejudicial to Bell Electric Company."

"If the city does not want any more billboard signs, then the ordinance should be changed. If Pass does not like the ordinance, he should appeal to the council to have it changed, and not resort to arbitrary enforcement," he said.

Spokesmen for the company said the city planner misrepresented their application in describing it as a request to "enlarge. relocate and redevelop an existing roof-type sign."

"In fact, this is an application for a new sign, a conventional billboard type, and has nothing to do with the existing sign, which will be removed," they said.

The firm proposes to construct a 20 by 50-foot sign above their building, and the sign will be rented to different advertising clients, if approved.

Company spokesmen said the first use of the new sign would be to advertise a San Mateo restaurant.

The present "appurtenant" sign on the roof advertises the firm's own business.

In considering the sign application, councilmen noted that the California Division of High-

Sale of Tanforan Lots Is Recorded

A grant deed recording the sale of the Tanforan site in San Bruno to the Hap Smith Co. of Los Angeles was filed Friday in Redwood City.

The deed indicates the Los Angeles firm paid Sunset International Petroleum Corp. approximately $2,625,000 for the property, a figure considerably higher than a reported $2,425,000 offer received when Sunset attempted to sell the 100-acre site at an auction last year.

The Smith firm is an "experienced shopping center development company" with holdings in several Bay Area communities, including San Jose and Fremont.

San Bruno Mayor Maurice Hamilton indicated last week he expects "rapid development of the Tanforan property in the near future" as a result of the sale.

Development of the former race track site as a shopping center has "hung fire" twice in the past, with both the Sunset Corp. and the Tavares Co. failing to develop the portion in San Bruno.

Only the smaller parcel in South San Francisco has been developed according to the original plans.

A 3-Way Sewerage Pact

South San Francisco councilmen Monday authorized a three-way agreement between the city, the North San Mateo County Sanitation District and Daly City for treatment of sewer waste from Serramonte and the Hickey Boulevard area.

Before approving the agreement, Mayor Patrick Ahern and councilmen ordered an amendment providing a surcharge for waste volumne over the 475,000 gallons per day authorized by the original terms.

The agreement was resubmitted to the North County Sanitation District board with the council's amendment.

The council also stipulated a surcharge will be added if waste materials are "not up to quality" specified in the agreement.

Public works officials have expressed fears that Daly City would rezone portions of the area to be served for commercial development, changing the "quality" of the materials to be treated.

Under the present arrangement, South San Francisco's treatment plant will process waste from approximately 1,100 homes in the area.

Alioto Proposal

A Generally Unfavorable Reaction to a 'Merger'

there," Kendree, an executive of the Doelger Corporation explained. "I have lived here since Westlake began . . . I know this city and the people, and I am convinced the people would fight any annexation move by San Francisco most vigorously."

Brisbane Mayor Dale With scoffed at Alioto's threatened annexation moves and said "We're thinking about annexing part of San Francisco . . ."

He said such a move would have to have the support of the people of Brisbane "and I think they would oppose any attempts to annex our city."

Daly City officials took a quiet look at Alioto's proposal and, for the most part, refrained from immediate comment.

Councilman Frank Parcelli said "it's a big mouthful and I'll have to study the matter before I make any comments."

But City Manager Edward Frank expressed the opinion that the proposal might be illegal.

He said although he didn't place "much stock in it" further study would be necessary.

"Actually, it's one of those impossible things. San Mateo won't vote for it — and I don't think the people of San Francisco would want it," Frank said.

There are legal ramifications attached to the idea of annexing the North County, Frank said.

"This matter would probably need legislative changes to bring it about . . . it will just require more study from a practical standpoint," the city manager said.

Another Daly City businessman, who asked he not be identified, said "every mayor in San Francisco for the past ten years has started his term of office by saying he will annex something . . . It gets a little tiring after awhile . . ."

South San Francisco Mayor Patrick Ahern said residents of his city would have nothing to gain from such a move "except a drastic increase in property taxes."

"We would be extremely foolish to even consider accepting the troubles attendant to being part of a big city," he said.

Pacifica Mayor Grace McCarthy indicated more interest in the proposal, stating she would like to see "what services San Francisco would offer, and other details involved."

Pacifica has long needed better transportation facilities, and Mayor McCarthy is interested in the possibility of acquiring San Francisco municipal bus service.

Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett predicted such a venture would be a "monumental flop," but allowed he secretly admired Alioto "for what he is trying to do . . ."

"He must be reading Popular Mechanics and is thinking 50 years ahead of his time. I think that what he (Alioto) proposes may come true in the next 50 years . . . and I would like to see how they bring such a move about," Lycett said.

He said the problems of crossing city lines to form a regional form of government in accordance with Alioto's idea would be staggering. Bonds and similar lines voted on by the people of cities involved in the merger would have to be considered before such incorporation, to mention only one problem, the mayor pointed out.

"Alioto is riding the crest of a wave right now. However, somewhere along the line he has to have a loser — and this is it," Lycett said.

San Bruno's Mayor Maurice Hamilton noted the proposal is "nothing new."

He recalled, too, that former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher made a similar suggestion, the result of which was not a merger but a formation of a mutual problems committee instead.

Hamilton considers the Alioto pitch as merely exploratory and one that would not receive "real serious consideration" from officials in San Mateo County.

It is "not practical," he said.

Canadian Nurses Honored on Visit

The Visiting Nurses Association of San Mateo County held their annual meeting at Stickney's Restaurant in San Mateo Friday.

During the meeting, which brought out a record attendance of staff, board members and guests of the association, two Canadian nurses — Helen Hicks and Margaret Nicoll, were honored for their contribution to the organization during past years.

Monict Koch, director of the joint visiting Nurses Association and Public Health Nursing services, noted the stable and steady growth of the agency over the years. Miss Koch is prominent in State, regional and local public health nursing professional groups.

Retiring president of the board is Robert Rehfeld who will continue to serve the organization on the board of trustees. Rehfeld is president of the Wells Fargo Bank in Hillsdale and is active in many civic and business groups.

The incoming president of the board for 1968-69 is Harry Hansen, a San Mateo attorney and member of the firm of Hession, Robb, Creedon, Hamlin and Kelly since 1961. Hansen is on the University of California Alumni Council; past president of the U.C. Alumni Club on the Peninsula; member of the Board of Health Facilities Planning Council; member of the San Mateo County Bar Association, and; assists with the Hillbarn Theater Fund Raising.

He is a resident of Hillsborough.

New officers of the association are:

Mrs. Edward Tualler, secretary; Wallace Benson, first vice-president; William Larsan, second vice-president, and Albert Beardsley, treasurer.

Board members include John Gilman, Mrs. Donald Holverson, Mrs. Joseph Levin, Mrs. Vincent Murphy, A. T. Paioni, George W. Plummer, Edward Rodeni and Roger Willey.

Shoots Self Showing How 'Twas Done

A San Francisco man accidentally shot himself through the hand with an automatic pistol in South San Francisco Thursday while demonstrating to a friend how an acquaintance of his wounded himself in a similar manner.

Daniel Carey, 32, was taken to Kaiser Hospital after the incident occurred at the home of Peter Giordanengo Jr., 72 Franklin Avenue, about 9 p.m.

Police said Carey had been working on the pistol, a six-millimeter Russian automatic, prior to the accident, and was not aware there was a shell in the chamber.

North Pair Win At Billiards

Roy Sanguineti of Daly City and Jean Meyer, Colma, won first place in Northern California's first "couples' billard league" play-offs this week at Town and Country Billiards.

Grady Proctor and Mary Patteson of Colma took second place honors in the league finale, according to Town and Country owner, Stan Cleaner.

Another six-week couples' league is scheduled to begin soon, Cleaner said.

ways has placed the city on notice that it might lose all funds for landscaping new freeways through the area if the number of billboard signs is not restricted.

District Engineer Alan Hart said several months ago "any further billboard signs along the Bayshore Freeway would be incompatible with freeway landscaping."

South San Francisco presently has 36 billboards.

Pacifica Pilots TV Show For Council Candidates

Pacifica will be the first Bay Area city to pilot its own closed circuit "Cable-Cast" today at 7 p.m. At that time each of the seven candidates for the coming Pacifica City Council election will present three minute statements on their qualifcations for candidacy.

Subscribers to Pacifica Cable T.V. can tune in to Channel 8, the channel that has been reserved for civic use and weather broadcasts, and receive an historic local premier. Viewers of this closed circuit cable-cast will see their city's first non-commercial, local, community service program presented solely by, and for Pacifica viewers.

Layton Jones, Oceana Science teacher, originated the idea of local civic-service telecasts as an expansion of the TV training program being piloted at Oceana High School. Jones presented his proposal to Henry Gastman, vice president of Pacifica Cable TV, who enthusiastically joined in the project.

Following the lead of some Southern California Cable systems, the Pacifica Cable TV invested time, money and equipment to bring this cable-cast into being.

When, as always, money problems threatened to doom the pilot, the candidates willingly made their contributions to buy needed video-tape, lights and title-cards.

As the equipment now being used in the high school was not of the professional quality needed to give cable subscribers good reception, Jones then approached Ward-Davis Associates of Palo Alto who donated the use of professional Ampex Video-Tape machines and other specialized equipment to the project. Cable T.V. purchased the transmission equipment necessary.

The cameramen, engineers and technical talent to produce the show all are teen-age boys and girls who are students at Oceana High, working after school and evenings to put the show together. These talented youngsters are: Director, Paul Realnin; cameramen, Morton French and Walter Hills; Audio-Video, Don Dowell; Graphics, Pam Glicksir and Margarite Gonzalez. Several other students contributed time and talents under their producer.

Working with the young production crew were the men of the Pacifica Cable T.V. Company under the leadership of Henry Gastman-Vice President, Dale McComb-PCTV systems superintendent, and Troy Lee-Technical coordinator. These men added their skill and experience to the project.

Pacifica residents who wish to see this pilot program and who are not cable TV subscribers can see it on both Wednesday night April 3 or Friday night April 5 at the following locations in Pacifica:

Grants Department store and Mr. Music in the Linda Mar shopping center, Alexanders Furniture store in Eureka Square, The Pacific Plaza Furniture in Pacific Manor, and in the Cultural Room of the Public Library in Sharp Park as well as the council chambers in the Pacifica City Hall.

This Cable-Cast will be the first of what Jones and Gastman hope will be many regularly scheduled programs of local interest to Pacificans. In the planning stages are cable-casts covering civic events, High School sporting events; News of recreational, educational or organizational activities and feature shows that might be important to Pacificans.

Discussion Of Prejudice Thursday

A panel of Bay Area women with diverse backgrounds will discuss racial and religious prejudice in "Focus on American Women" at Thursday's meeting of the St. Veronica's Women's Club at 8 p.m. in South San Francisco.

Mrs. Warren Brown, moderator, will introduce Mesdames Ralph Weiss, Howard Bess, Gerald Raffo, Nicholas Iyoya and John Ulrich. They represent the Catholic, Negro, Oriental, Jewish and Protestant viewpoints.

Nominees for office will be introduced by Mrs. George Hadfield, chairman of the nominating committee. Special guests will be the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine elementary and high school teachers. The CCD mothers will serve refreshments. New members are Mrs. John Campillo and Mrs. John Le Dee.

Half-Nude Hippie Girls at City Hall

phere around the city offices, this appeared to be a distinct possibility.

When Mayor Patrick Ahern and members of the council agreed to rent out their meeting place for the filming last month, City Manager Eugene Aiello reported only that the movie was to be a "high class" comedy, and would star Jackie Gleason and Carol Channing.

The scene filmed locally was to deal with "a group of hippies being taken in to see the mayor of a small town by a policeman," Aiello said, and so it did.

The city received $150 per day for the three days required to shoot the scene inside the city hall and on the front lawn.

Preminger also paid for extra policemen required to control the crowds, and will receive a sizeable bill for repairs to the floor of the council chamber.

If there is any expression of outrage over the "goings on" in the city hall, it probably won't come from the owners of the downtown restaurants and delicatessens, who enjoyed a booming business during the shooting.

A number of local residents (both "straights" and hippies) were also employed by the movie makers as extras.

A Mill Valley actress, Karna Small, said a San Francisco agency provided most of the extras, who received about $30 per day, and they came from all over the Bay Area.

The girls who appeared nude?

"They will more than likely become members of SAG as a result," Miss Small said.

SAG is the Screen Actor's Guild, she explained, and membership is reserved for those who have had spoken lines.

Miss Small, who is already a member of SAG, was fully clothed.

A 'Whirlwind' D.C. Meeting

The formalities of getting a regular council meeting underway in Daly City took longer Monday night than the meeting itself.

Immediately following the Pledge of Allegiance a motion was made by Councilman Michael DeBernardi to throw out all bids made on three parcels of city-owned land and resubmit the lots for bid.

It was seconded by Councilman Frank Pacelli and carried by a unanimous vote of the council.

Mayor Barnard (Bud) Lycett, without pausing, asked for a motion to end the meeting and the councilmen's voices blended in a single "yes" vote.

The lightning session had been called to discuss the summary of bids received on a plot of ground in the Mission Street-Templeton Avenue area — site of the old city maintenance building. Only one bid for $29,105 had been received last week on the parcel. Two other parcels in the city were not bid on.

Appraised value of the property is some $43,600, according to the city manager's office, and the single bid offered was so low the council, on advice of the staff, decided to throw it out.

Ask Truck Curb For Devil's Slide

A demand that truck traffic be restricted on the treacherous Devil's Slide section of Cabrillo Highway was made Thursday to the Greater Highways Committee.

Mrs. Florence E. McKenzie of Montara, representing the Save the Scenic Coast Committee, declared that plans for regularly scheduled truck traffic should be restricted at their sources.

That would include, she said, garbage trucks going to and from the Green Valley dump site north of Montara and logging trucks employed at the proposed Purisima Canyon logging operation south of Half Moon Bay.

"Devil's Slide is dangerous for commuter and other automobile traffic," Mrs. McKenzie said. "It is often closed. The road has already slipped six feet into the ocean at its narrowest part.

"Cabrillo Highway is the only state highway linking Half Moon Bay with San Francisco, and the people who live on the Coast need such a route for their livelihood. They use it now at the risk of their lives. We believe the county should stop, at the source, such projects that would further endanger lives and livelihoods."

The committee took no action on her statement. In other action, however, the committee agreed to give top priority rating to a proposed bypass route that would be built in the event the present road has to be closed.

Alma Heights Sets April Paper Drive

Hope of getting a section of the school yard paved has prompted parents of Alma Heights Academy students of Pacifica to try their hands at a fund raising paper drive.

Alma Heights parents are asking Pacificans to save up newspapers (no magazines) and tie them into bundles for an April 27 collection. If space is a problem, savers may call Mrs. Shirley McCarty in Pacifica.

D.C. Grants Use Permits

Use permits were granted to the Dunn-Edwards Paint Corporation to operate a wholesale paint store in Daly City, and the Daly City Toyota Company to erect a vertical sign at their Mission Street store, during a regular meeting of the Daly City Council.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett noted the Dunn-Edward company would be located on unused lands owned by the Southern Pacific Company and would be a welcome addition to the city's business community.

Until their new building is completed, the paint supply company will be housed in an existing building at 2169 Junipera Serra Boulevard

Boys' Club Poster Due Out

A pint-sized barber shop quartet will appear in the North County to help the South San Francisco Boys' Club celebrate National Boys' Club Week, March 31 to April 6.

The singing group, really Boys' Club members hidden behind thick handlebar mustaches, appears on the newly released 1968 Boys' Clubs of America poster whose theme is "Given Them Something to Sing About."

The four-color poster will be reproduced for thousands of billboards, car and counter cards and television.

"This year's poster is a light-hearted representation of typical Boys' Club members practicing juvenile decency," said Tom Sauer, executive director of the club. "It shows that while boys may be underprivileged in other respects they are not when it comes to having fun or enjoying a favorite pastime at a Boys' Club."

The South San Francisco club is in its sixth year of operation and has become one of the leading clubs in the Bay Area. "Our staff has grown from two full-time men in 1962 to four full-time and one part-time supervisor because of the demand for our service," Sauer stated.

"Being a member agency of the United Bay Area Crusade has been a great help to the growth of the club," stated Sauer. "However, we must count on the continued support of the community to insure proper supervisors and program demanded by our large membership."

The public is invited to visit the club at 201 West Orange Avenue during Boys' Club Week.

S.S.F. Future Described To Chamber

South San Francisco planner Daniel Pass described in eloquent terms last wetk the role of planning, past, present and future, in the life of the Peninsula's "industrial city."

"Many of the more desirable characteristics of this city today are a direct result of a professional planning project commissioned in 1892 by G. F. Swift," Pass told Chamber of Commerce members at a meeting Wednesday.

Even though the city's original plan was based upon the now obsolete "gridiron" concept, and was produced before the advent of the automobile, the plan was flexible enough to allow a desirable balance between industry and residential development, Pass said.

"It is obvious from the original plans, now three-quarters of a century old, that Swift envisioned the need for this balance, and did not intend the area to be devoted entirely to industry," the planner said.

Though working with modern methods, the city's present planning staff is still striving for this early goal, the "happy balance," according to Pass.

Another chapter in the "considerable history of planning" in the city was a general plan prepared in 1947 by the Hahn-Campbell firm.

"This 1947 effort was a landmark in city planning on the Peninsula," he said. "This plan projected the 1960 population within 500 residents of the actual figure."

A new general plan was prepared in 1962, and was revised as recently as last year.

Among the projections for the future are a population growth of some 30,000 by 1980, more industrial development, a tremendous increase in vehicular traffic through the area, and a myriad of problems produced by these developments, Pass said.

"We can successfully meet all the problems of our future growth through sound planning practices," he said, "and extensive city planning is the most satisfactory, and, in the long run, the most economical approach to future development."

Bike Licenses Due at S.S.F. Fire Houses

Special bicycle licensing arrangements have been made at central and Buri Buri fire stations in South San Francisco.

Each Wednesday, Saturday or Sunday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. bike licenses may be secured. The registrant should report with his or her bicycle and a $1 fee. The bicycle will be registered and a license tag affixed.

According to Police Chief John Fabbri, "The number of bicycle thefts during the past years have increased alarmingly. One method of restricting these thefts and assuring a better recovery and return of those bicycles is the proper registration of them with the city."

SSF Plants 6,000 Trees

South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department through the efforts of Superintendent Robert Maxey and Landscape Specialist John Hoffman, sponsored the planting of about 6,000 trees throughout the city on Arbor Day and Conservation week, with the trees furnished by the department

Twelve South San Francisco schools planted a total of 179 trees. These schools were El Camino and South San Francisco high schools, Southwood Junior High, Alta Loma, Avalon, Los Cerritos, Martin, Monte Verde, Ponderosa, Serra Vista, Sunshine Gardens.

Scout troops were active planting trees and assisting other tree planters. Troop 181 rang doorbells and planted 300 pines. Troops 246 and 183 assisted the Westborough Homeowners Association with wrapping pine seedlings and handing them out. Troop 277 planted trees at Aldersgate Methodist Church.

Westborough Homeowners Association handed out over 1,000 trees and shrubs for erosion control planting on Westborough slopes.

Winston Manor Community Association had a similar program at Earl Pero's garage. George Nakada of the Country Garden Nursery donated about 150 shrubs to these two homeowner association programs.

Single biggest rush of the week occured at the city Park Department nursery at Orange Park. Coupons were filled out by about 400 homeowners and presented to city personnel who gave away about 300 street trees and 2,000 little pines and other trees and shrubs to those who had erosion problems.

Open house was observed at the new Park Department office and facilities building. The Redwood Region Conservation Council donated 50 seedling Sequoia trees which were distributed. All seedling pines were obtained at cost from the State Division of Forestry except for about 500 which were contributed by Oyster Point Marina.

Burglars At Capuchino

Burglars, apparently using master keys to get in the business building and other rooms, took over $3,200 worth of equipment from Capuchino high school in San Bruno.

San Bruno police said a green hand-ruck truck belonging to the school was used to cart off 12 tape recorders, a transcription machine, and a copy machine.

Other items may be added to the list as school officials complete their inventory, police indicated.

Using a set of master keys, the burglars first entered the business building, then proceeded to move from room-to-room in the school plant, searching seven classrooms, a store room, faculty room and the cafeteria.

Police described the burglars as "neat" and "knew what they were doing."

'Beaten' Woman Sues City

A $150,000 damage suit was filed in Superior Court Thursday on behalf of a Pacifica woman and her five children who, it is alleged, were beaten by Pacifica police last October 19.

Plaintiffs are Mrs. Gloria Garcia Diaz and Gloria, 16, Manuel, 15, Saturnino, 14, Andres, 12, and Marcus, 9.

The complaint charges that policemen, who are not named, came to the home at 389 Glencourt Way at night to arrest Mrs. Diaz on a charge that she had driven her car although her license had been suspended. Mrs. Diaz demanded to be shown a warrant, the suit states, but none was produced. And Mrs. Diaz was not told, the complaint alleges, what special circumstances existed to permit the arrest to be made at night.

Mrs. Diaz said she asked to be allowed to dress and went into the bathroom. The defendants followed her into the bathroom, the suit charges, and "without any cause whatsoever, and with the use of excessive and unreasonable force under the circumstances . . . assaulted, beat and struck plaintiff." The suit alleges that the children were also beaten.

Mrs. Diaz was taken to jail and her daughter was taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Hall, and the boys were left alone, the suit states.

The suit asks $50,000 general damages from the city and $100,000 punitive damages from the policemen.

Police Chief Neil Tremaine declined to comment on the case other than to note that a claim for damages, based on the same allegations, had been denied by the Pacifica City Council.

Miracle Coating Eliminates House Painting

American United Chemical Company has developed a remarkable product for exterior walls that virtually eliminates outside painting for many years to come and is factory guaranteed for 15 years. This product called GUARD-COTE, combines the long-lasting properties of fiberglass, asbestos, mica and perlite to make a wall surface that resists all climate extremes.

Throughout the Country

School boards have found textured coatings so economical and lasting over the past several years that they are now specifying this type of material for school buildings.

Many thousands of textured coating applications have been made on homes, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, and these buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 15 years exposure in all weather extremes.

The United States Government and large corporation, such as Shell Oil Company, Pacific Telephone Company, and American Telephone and Telegraph Company, are using textured coatings. This remarkable exterior surfacing provides waterproofing, insulation, and beauty, far outlasting any ordinary paint.

GUARD-COTE comes in 12 beautiful decorator colors—and does not change the structural lines of the building. Actually it adds beauty to any home or structure and increases its value.

Water-proofs, Insulates, Fire Retardent

GUARD-COTE has the additional advantages of waterproofing and through the use of Silicones, a modern day scientific advance, a water repellent "blanket" envelops the entire building so that no moisture can penetrate and damage the interior of the home. Through the use of fiberglass and perlite, highly efficient insulating material, the building becomes cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter.

Factory Guaranteed

Every GUARD-COTE job is registered and factory guaranteed for 15 full years material replacement against chipping, flaking or peeling. It fuses itself to the wall surface to a thickness 15 to 20 times that of normal paint.

No Obligation

Applications of GUARD-COTE are being made in this area by MORSE BROTHERS, exclusive applicators of this remarkable product for Northern California. Parks Bring Huge Crowd To Pacifica Council Meet

By DON GRIERSON

The subject of parks created discussion at Pacificas council meeting again last wetk, and homeowners from two separate subdivisions filled the city hall chambers to standing-room-only.

A newly formed organization of Pacifica Park, two homeowners objected vehemently to a tentative map for new development in the Saddle Town area, but the map, including the highly unpopular section dealing with a proposed park site, was approved by a three-to-two vote.

Catcalls and derisive comments filled the council chambers as Challenge Development Co.'s map for the 200-acre residential development won approval.

The map depicts a 25-acre city park in an area which homeowners described as "practically vertical," and the Parks, Beach and Recreation Commission has recommended that the parcel be considered only as an "open area," because development as a park would prove too expensive.

Homeowners also objected to the fact that sidewalks will be constructed on only one side of the streets in the new subdivision, but three members of the council stated there are many quality subdivisions in the area "with no sidewalks at all."

"Having sidewalks on only one side of the streets will preserve the rural flavor of the area, and that is what most of the residents have indicated they want," City Manager C. W. Masonheimer said.

"People who want sidewalks can buy houses on the side of the street that has sidewalks," Councilman Nick Gust said. "Besides, the homeowners who live there now won't be the people who are going to buy the new houses."

Gust also said those residents who object to any aspects of the tentative map should have appeared at planning commission hearings on the matter, and "not come here at the last minute seeking changes, when we have no opportunity to go into the thing."

The city's planning commissioners voted unanimously to approve the tentative map.

Mayor McCarthy and Councilman Rick Wallis voted against approving the tentative map, with Councilmen Gust, Barland Minshew and Daniel Modena voting in favor.

Mayor McCarthy and Wallis attempted to reopen discussion on the matter when the crowd of homeowners insisted that they be given an opportunity speak, but their motion was voted down, 3-2.

Public hearings before the council is not required in considering subdivision maps, under the city's code.

A large group of Fairmont residents also appeared at Wednesday's council meeting to protest the priority given the Hickey Greenbelt project.

Directors of the Fairmont Homeowners' Association are seeking completion of the greenbelt planting and sprinkler system, but about 700 of the asssociations' members want a small park completed before further work is done on the greenbelt project.

Edward Libonati, representing the association directors, told councilmen they would "face a lawsuit" if the greenbelt project is not begun immediately.

"We have entered into contracts for installation of the sprinkler system and other facets of the project," he said "and we must proceed on schedule."

Councilmen decided to postpone the matter until the first meeting in April.

Miller Will Head Rafferty Drive Here

Robert N. Miller, San Bruno realtor and member of the Republican State Central Committee, has been named as North County chairman for the "Rafferty for Senate" campaign as announced by Mrs. John (Hope) Renshaw, San Mateo County chairman for Rafferty. Miller will be responsible for directing all campaign activities from Millbrae north to the county line.

"I have known and admired Dr. Rafferty for many years. He has the ability to get to the core of problems, the courage to speak out on them.

'Trashy' Books Pastor's Topic

"Give Attendance to Reading" will be the message of Pastor R. R. Liwag to Daly City Filipino Seventh-day Adventists Saturday at the 11 a.m. service at the local church, 101 Vista Grande Avenue, Daly City.

Noting the advancing numbers of "trashy" books and magazines making their way onto the newsstands, Pastor Liwag will inform that "to a great degree the mind is affected by that upon which it feeds."

"Moreover," he continues, "the nature of one's religious experience is revealed by the character of the books and magazines one chooses to read in his leisure moments."

Further outlining his emphasis for this weekend, the cleric mentioned the multitudes of pages which are "creating a disrelish for solemn thought and stable living." Displaying a number of church-sponsored magazines, he will call for his congregation to read that which is "character building and mind ennobling."

He will also invite the congregation to share with Daly City citizens Christian magazines for all faiths.

"Intemperate habits of reading exert a pernicious influence upon the brain as surely as does intemperance in eating and drinking," he says.

"The heart-sickening recital of crimes and atrocities has a bewitching power upon many, exciting the intellect to impure and sensual thoughts," he concludes. "We would get Americans and Daly City back to stimulating, elevating literature as part of the answer to today's society needs and especially to youth."

Coulter In S.S.F. Council Election

GEORGE COULTER

George Coulter, a member and former chairman of the South San Francisco Recreation Commission, is making a bid for a council seat in the April 9 election.

"I am seeking to fill one of the vacancies created when Councilmen Emelio Cortesi and Guido Rozzi declined to run for re-election," Coulter said this week, "and am not in opposition to incumbent councilman Frank Bertucelli, who has done an outstanding job and deserves a vote of confidence."

Coulter has served on the recreation commission for eight years, and is also a past president of the El Camino High School Boosters Club and the St. Veronica's Men's Club.

"If elected, I intend to continue the city's present effective policies in residential and industrial development, budget procedures and tax economy, parks and recreation and other areas," he said.

He also pledges to seek to expedite the city's food control project, and to work for "new approaches" for commercial development in the city.

A former New Yorker, Coulter has resided in South San Francisco 18 years. He is married, and he and his wife, Dorothy have four children.

Coulter is an account executive for the Transportation Consultants International Co.

Jim Claar Of S.S.F. Tells Views

James Claar, who seeks the office of City Council "to give the citizens of South San Francisco a person who has been close to the pulse of the people for the past 16 years," points out he has devoted much of his time to supporting "many projects that have been instrumental in the continued growth of the city."

Claar has served on the City Planning Commission, and helped draw the guide lines for the city Master Plan. He was a co-chairman of the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of South San Francisco. He also served on the Tri-County Planning Agency representing South San Francisco, was president of the City Park Improvement Club, and Chairman of Associated Improvement Clubs.

He and his wife, Martha, have hosted many members of the Armed Forces in their home, and have many letters of thanks from mothers and fathers for having been so kind to their sons.

He was also a director working with the late Kay Irvine, who he calls "a lady to remember," in helping to rehabilitate young teeners. The organization was known as K.I.P., "Kinds in Performance," many of whom have gone on and become successful in show business.

Claar is an active member in the Young Men's Institute.

He has been part of the labor movement for over twenty years after serving in the South Pacific in World War II.

He became active in the Sailors Union of the Pacific, serving as a sea going delegate protecting the interests of his union's members.

He is presently employed by Foremost Foods. Prior to this he was a supervisor for Christopher Dairy Farms for nine years. He is a member of Local 226, Teamsters.

Pacifica OK's Plans

Pacifica councilmen approved plans and specifications for the city's new police station Wednesday, and authorized City Manager C. W. Masonheimer to call for bids on the $38,600 project.

The new station will be built adjacent to the present city hall on land purchased from the Laguna Salada School District. The site was selected last year from more than a score of locations under consideration, as "the most feasible from the financial point of view."

"I can only say I wish we could have done more," Mayor Grace McCarthy said Wednesday.

Bertucelli Stays In S.S.F. Race

Frank Bertucelli, incumbent councilman and former mayor of South San Francisco, is the only one of three incumbents whose terms expire this year seeking re-election April 9.

Bertucelli has served on the council since 1963, when he was appointed to fill the vacancy created when Assemblyman Leo Ryan resigned to assume his duties in Sacramento.

Bertucelli is also a past member and chairman of the city's personnel board.

In his platform statement this week, the incumbent councilman said he has "one main guiding principle, and that is to consider the taxpayer's best interest by producing results and lowering taxes."

"In the past, I have worked for development of our industrial parks, which rival any in the state in beauty and value, and I have also pioneered new ideas in the planned community designs which provide common greens, park sites and fire station sites at no cost to the city," he said.

Bertucelli also participated in the lengthy negotiations to obtain cable television service in the city "at one of the lowest subscriber rates in the state."

He is also credited with assisting in revitalization of the city's Chamber of Commerce, and the downtown redevelopment program.

"While producing positive results in city government programs and services, I have helped to maintain reasonable budget procedures resulting in a present tax rate of 91 cents per $100 assessed valuation," he said.

Bertucelli resides at 577 Palm Avenue with his wife, Jo, and is co-owner of Bertucelli-Ames Chevron Service. He was educated in the South San Francisco school system, and also attended Heald's Business College and the F.B.I. training course at College of San Mateo.

Famed European waxworks tend to feature gruesome horror chambers. Wax museums in the United States generally recreate the important events and people of Amrican history.

FRANK BERTUCELLI

Montoya Raps Youth Policy

South San Francisco Council Candidate Antonio Montoya this week criticized the present council's "failure to take a stand on youth employment problems," and advocated formation of a summer job program for the city's youths.

"Last year I proposed that the council form such a program, to be administered by the school district, chamber of commerce and city officials. Councilmen turned a deaf ear to the proposal at that time," he said.

"With the present work experience program being carried out in the schools, the council and the chamber of commerce would organize a successful summer job program," he said.

Montoya said he will work for the institution of such a program if elected, and would also work for establishment of a California Employment Service job referral center in the city.

"I feel a referral center would be of great benefit to young persons seeking summer employment," he said.

Hensel Asks For Regular Planner

James Hensel, candidate for San Bruno City Council, today called for appointment of a full time professional city planner which he declared would "result in savings for the taxpayers" and would co-ordinate the progress of the city on a more efficient and effective basis.

Hensel pointed out that the part time professional planner with whom the city now contracts is doing a good job but the planner himself has often indicated that the city needs a full time planner.

"As a member of the Planning Commission, I am very much aware of this problem. Five years ago the commission appealed to the city council for a full time planner, but after study it was agreed that we try a part time program first."

"Now the actual need has been established through trial and the cost can readily be justified. Considerable money has been spent for studies that our own planner could have done for us. Many controversial planning matters that were long drawn out requiring many meetings could have been resolved more expeditiously," Hensel declared.

"A good planner, although not a cure-all, could have eliminated some of the ill feeling that now exists between some individuals and the administration. This is the result of both sides not being completely aware of the facts on which these positions were established."

RAINMAKING

Rainmaking is becoming an accepted industry, though many questions remain unanswered. Weather modification programs have been carried out in Japan, Mexico, Colombia, Russia, Israel, Australia and the United States.

SNOWFLAKES

Although all snowflakes are basically alike (constructed on the same principle) the flakes are so infinitely varied in design that no two are exactly alike.

Man Hurt In S.S.F. Mishap

A young San Jose man was injured Wednesday afternoon in an industrial accident at the American Bridge Co. plant in South San Francisco, police reported.

Fred Smith, 21, was taken to Peninsula Hospital about 5 p.m. after he fell when a welded joint gave way on a steel scaffold.

Smith fell about four feet, police said, and "couldn't move" after he struck the ground.

Aide's Arm Is Crushed

A United Air Lines mechanic lost his lower right arm Friday morning when a 1500-pound counter-weight fell while he was working on a grinding machine.

Edward Dosier, 29, identified as a resident of 535 Walnut Avenue, San Bruno, was rushed to surgery shortly after arriving at Peninsula hospital at 11:03 a.m.

Airlines spokesman James Ramsay said Dosier, an aircraft mechanic assigned to plant maintenance, had been repairing a machine known as a Springfield Grinder, when the accident occurred. He said safety investigators are trying to learn the cause of the accident.

Jack Banks

Banks Seeks Post In Pacfica Race

Jack Banks, a United Air Lines instrument mechanic and resident of Pacifica since the city's incorporation, is one of seven candidates seeking two seats on the council in the April 9 election.

In his platform statement this week, Banks, one of the city's founders, said, "Pacifica has been incorporated for more than ten years, and our government has not grown accordingly."

"We badly need improvements in our police department, recreational department, better streets, better handling of our hard-earned tax dollars and a revision of our home improvement permits," he said.

Banks also said he will oppose extended commercial development of the city's beaches, if elected, and is also opposed to the Association of Bay Area Governments.

"I am in favor of Route 186, which we should have had several years ago," the candidate said.

"This highway will benefit not only the business trade, but the entire community," he said.

"I feel we need men from all walks of life on the city council," Banks said, "and not just business and professional men."

A native of Texas, Banks has resided in the Bay Area for 27 years. He attended the public schools in Richmond, and served in the Army in 1946 and 1947, and during the Korean War. He received the Korean Service Medal with two battle stars, and also the United Nations Service Medal.

He is a member of the International Order of De Molay advisory board, and the Masonic Order, and is an active worker with the International Order of Job's Daughters.

He is an associate of the Order of the Easter Star, and a member of the Church of Christ.

Hamilton Tells Of Experience

Mayor Maurice K. Hamilton, candidate for re-election to the San Bruno City Council, said today that his experience in handling civic problems as the result of the growth of San Bruno over the past eight years gives him valuable background to continue to serve the citizens of the community.

"With our rapid growth, the problem of providing local governmental services without increasing taxes has been a challenging one, which I believe we have met with effectiveness," Hamilton declared.

"As we continue to grow our area becomes more urbanized and we now play a larger part in regional needs and solutions. As a leader in making San Bruno a more pleasant, prosperous and worthwhile place to live I have had a part in achieving some of the solutions to regional problems which have been beneficial not only to our community but the entire area and pledge to continue to work towards these objectives," Hamilton asserted.

"We have been successful in holding the line on taxes while still meeting our operational costs and embarking on several major capital improvements on a "pay as you go basis" which saves taxpayers thousands of dollars in bond interest," Hamilton pointed out.

Mayor Hamilton was one of the founders of the Crestmoor Park Improvement Association, a past president of it and active in many civic affairs locally.

He served on the park and recreation commission and was first elected to the city council in 1960. He was mayor also in 1962-63. An attorney, Hamilton has offices at 510 San Mateo, San Bruno, and resides with his wife and four children at 2260 Kingston.

He is active in the U.S. Air Force Reserve, holding the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. In World War II he was a fighter pilot and instructor.

Corey Wins Labor Favor

George R. Corey, San Bruno attorney, vying for a seat on the City Council in the April 9 election has received strong endorsement from labor in recent days.

San Mateo County Committee on Political Education (COPE) announced its endorsement after two-thirds majority vote among 47 delegates from 24 different local AFL-CIO unions.

Close on the heels of COPE's announcement was that of the International Assn. of Machinists & Aerospace Workers backing Corey for Council with full endorsement.

Taking a strong stand in support of Corey's candidacy also is the Communications Worker of America, Local 9430. This is not surprising in view of excellent labor relations enjoyed by Corey during his career as an attorney in San Bruno and Millbrae.

Girls from the Trainable Mentally Retarded program at Palos Verdes School in San Bruno, are presenting their annual spring fashion show, "Spring Fashions" on Thursday at 1 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Participants are members of the good grooming, physical fitness and sewing classes, taught by Mrs. George Smith, Miss Elizabeth Astle, and Mrs. Karl Frahm.

The program is designed to help each girl to learn to look her best.

The show will be commentated by two of the students: Rosemary Erwin and Carol Andreacchi.

Decorations for the fashion show are being made by the classroom aides, Mrs. Lester Wheat, Mrs. Evo Ascani, Mrs. Edward Schultheis, Mrs. Charles Schultheis, Mrs. Nicholas Dillis and Mrs. Joseph Azzopardi.

The girls will have complimentary hairstyles donated by the students of San Mateo College Cosmetology Department.

Joseph Marx, principal, invited persons interested in seeing the kind of experimental program being developed by these creative teachers and the exciting results to attend the show.

The program is operated by the San Mateo County Superintendent of Schools, Dr. J. Russell Kent, and directed by William S. Herbig, assistant superintendent in charge of special schools.

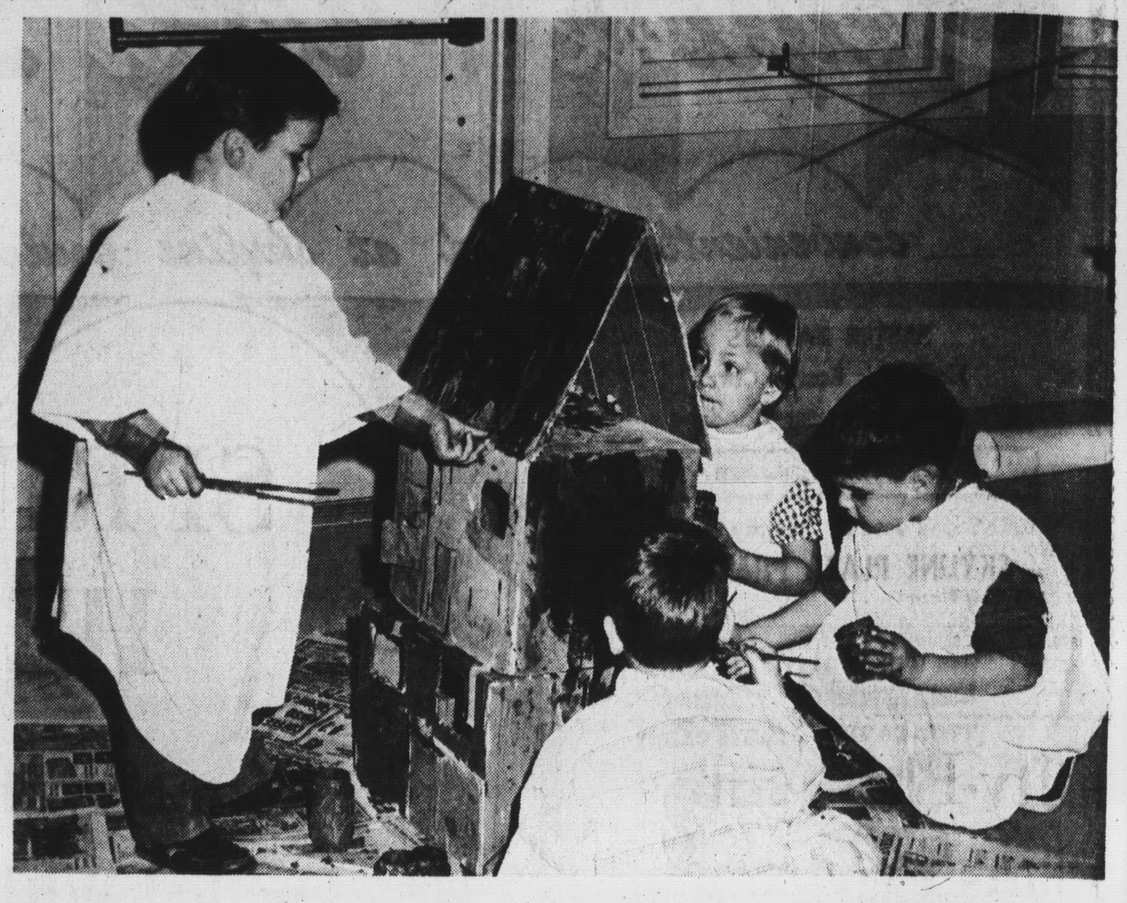
THE POST FAMILY LIFE

The Widget World . . .

THE YWCA'S "Widget World" program offers youngsters involvement with paint, paste, dress-up, clay and varied self-expression activities such as rhythms, dance, song and story.



150 Youngsters Attending YWCA's Nursery in D.C.

The San Mateo County YWCA nursery in Daly City took a big step forward this week with the installation of a fence around its play area.

The nursery has been in existance for about eight years and since January, 1968, has had all its programs at the new annex of the Westlake Lutheran Church, Avalon Drive and Westmoor Avenue.

The facilities of the church required few changes to be made for the nursery, itself. However, at this time, development of the playarea is of major importance, "Y" officials say.

Now that the fence is in place, plans for surfacing part of the area at the church and for obtaining and installing new equipment are being considered.

Under the YWCA supervision, instructors Barbara Morse, Durinda Kelley, and Susan Harley provide a wide variety of program experiences. Children paint, paste, dress-up, play with clay and learn many other things.

Group activities that provide for self expression through rhythms, dance, song, and story are also taught.

There are programs for children three to five years old that last 2½ hours on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

A special Toddlers Class for those two to three years old is held for 1½ hours on Monday mornings.

At the present time there are approximately 150 children enrolled.

Mothers of enrollees are automatically members of the "Y" Nursery Association. Mrs. Dixie Mibelli is president of this association.

Parent participation is considered essential to the nursery.

Attendance is required at three meetings that are held during the 10-week class sessions. Authorities in the field of early childhood and parent education lead the discussions at the nursery's evening meetings. Fathers are also invited to these meetings.

nance, and building of the nursery is very important not only to the people directly involved, but also to all of San Mateo County. Every effort is being made to make it a more complete and better equipped one. There is still room for anyone who wants to enroll their child, anl may do so by contacting the San Mateo YWCA, 375 South Mayfair, Daly City.

Day at Races Guild Project

Mrs. Fred Mortara, presidetn of Mary's Help Hospital Guild, has announced that the guild will sponsor a "Day at the Races" at Golden Gate Fields April 17.

The afternoon will be the kick-off event for the Guild's annual Fuschsia Ball to be held in May.

Fashion Event Is High On OLPH List

Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers' club will have a special games night Saturday at 8 p.m. in the school hall.

Mrs. John Sans is chairman.

The regular meeting for the OLPH Mothers Club has been changed this month to April 10 at 8 p.m. in the school hall.

The chairmen are Mrs. Lorenzo Tinetti and Mrs. John Serrano.

The nominating committee will be announced.

High on the agenda will be the group's annual fashion show, "It's a Small World" which will be held at noon April 20, at Bertolucci's in South San Francisco.

Commentator will be County Supervisor Robert St. Clair, well-known as a San Francisco 49'er.

Fashions will be from H. Liebes, Grant Avenue.

The models will include Mrs. Carl Haack, Mrs. Paul Martin, Mrs. Walter Mignault, Mrs. Stephen Milici, Mrs. Donald Rae, Mrs. Archie Reynolds III, Mrs. Walter Tafralis, Mrs. Michael Valenzano, Mrs. William Willers, and Miss Diane Azzopardi.

Junior models will be the misses Patricia Martin, Shawna Foster, Twila Foster and Catherine Cassinelli, and Master David Baldwin.

Proceeds will benefit the school.

For reservations contact Mrs. Joseph Daniele or Mrs. Tony Pacheco.

'It's a Small World'

Big Bob St Clair, known the world over for years as the rough, tough and able 49ers' star tackle, and now a San Mateo County supervisor, will be — of all things — commentator for the April 20 fashion show to be staged by Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers' Club. Bob displays quite a contrast to the show's theme, "It's a Small World," as Cathy Cassinelli (left), David Baldwin and Twila Foster would agree! Event will be held at Bertolucci's in South San Francisco. (Post Photo)

Show-Night Menu

Good morning, good cooks.

Just recently I received a card from a friend down San Mateo way asking if I had a cookie recipe that uses gelatin as ingredient. I find that I have many cake recipes for gelatin, but no cookie recipes. Do any of you good cooks have such a recipe? And will you share it with me?

This last weekend we had the pleasant experience of seeing "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown." We went to an early matinee and I had invited our friends to come home and have dinner with us, which meant that I had to have everything ready when I left for the show. The menu selected worked out perfectly and I thought some of you "goer-outers" might like to have it for your files.

MENU

Hamburger-Corn Casserole

Mixed Vegetables Waldorf Mold

Mandarin Cheese Pie

Most casseroles that use ground meat and tomatoes are rather highly seasoned, but this hamburger-corn casserole calls for no exotic seasonings. As a result you have a dish that is most tasty and will suit the most delicate tastes.

HAMBURGER-CORN CASSEROLE

- 1 med. onion, chopped
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- ¼ cup shortening or salad oil
- 1½ lbs. hamburger
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teas. pepper
- 2 eggs
- 1 can (No. 303) whole-kernel corn
- 4 medium tomatoes, sliced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ cup bread crumbs

Peel and chop the medium onion, remove seeds and ribs from pepper and chop. Cook both vegetables in the one-fourth cup oil until the onion is limp, then stir in the one and one-half pounds hamburger and continue cooking until meat is brown and crumbly. Remove from heat, cool slightly and stir in the one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and two eggs. Mix thoroughly.

Slice the four tomatoes. Grease a two-quart casserole. Spoon half the meat mixture into the casserole dish, cover with the one can of corn, drained, and arrange half the tomato slices over the corn. Spoon the remaining meat mixture on top. Cover with the rest of the tomato slices.

Melt the two tablespoons butter in a small pan, stir in the one-half cup bread crumbs and cook until crsip and golden. Sprinkle over the top of the casserole, being careful to give plenty to the tomato slices.

Bake in 375-degree oven about 30 minutes.

I completed the casserole's mixing and fixing and put in the refrigerator to await my pleasure. About an hour before dinner I heated the oven to 375-degrees and then placed the casserole in to bake. It took about 15 minutes for my oven to heat up, so the casserole baked about 45 minutes.

This casserole has another charming trait. It isn't the least bit temperamental. At the end of the 45-minute cooking time my guests weren't quite ready to eat so I just put a cover on the dish, turned the oven very low and told the casserole to behave itself. It did and came out tasting heavenly and looking beautiful with the tomatoes crested with the buttered crumbs.

I made the molded salad and the pie on Saturday and they were both waiting patiently in the refrigerator until called to play their roles.

WALDORF MOLD

- 1 package lemon gelatin (3 oz. size)
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup boiling water
- three-fourths cup cold water
- 2 teaspoons vinegar
- three-fourths cup finely diced celery
- 1 cup diced red apples
- ¼ cup chopped walnuts
- ¼ cup mayonnaise

Dissolve the one package gelatin and one-half teaspoon salt in the one cup boiling water. Add the three-fourths cup cold water and the two teaspoons vinegar. Chill until very thick.

Fold in the three-fourths cup celery, one cup diced red apples, one-fourth cup each walnuts and mayonnaise. Spoon into individual molds or into a 1-quart mold. Chill until firm.

Unmold onto crisp greens. Serves 6.

This orange pie is most delicious and very, very pleasing to the eye.

MANDARIN CHEESE PIE

- 1 package (3 oz.) neufchatel cheese
- 1 tablespoon milk
- A 9-inch pie shell
- 2 cans mandarin oranges, (11 Oz.), drained
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 6 Tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon almond extract
- yellow food coloring

Blend the three-ounces cheese with the one tablespoon milk, until smooth. Spread over bottom of cooled 8-inch pie shell. Place in refrigerator to chill.

Drain the two cans oranges and reserve the liquid. Place the drained oranges over the cheese in the pie shell. If necessary, add enough water to the liquid from the oranges to make three-fourths cup.

Slowly add the orange liquid to the one tablespoon cornstarch in a small saucepan. Add the six tablespoons sugar, cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat and cool.

Add the one-fourth teaspoon almond extract and the yellow food coloring to the cooled liquid. Pour over the orange segments in pie shell; chill until set.

Serves 6.

Coe is a graduate of Oregon State University with an M.S. from Iowa State College. Both classes will run for eight weeks. Registration fee is $5. Those interested may register at the Park, Beach and Recreation Office in Pacifica City Hall, or at the first class attended.

Glee Club Performs

Members of the Westlake Senior Citizens Club will welcome members of the Westmoor High School Glee Club today at 11:30 a.m. when the youthful ensemble presents a special concert in the social hall of the Community Baptist Church in Westlake.

Howard Loeffler will direct the program which is becoming an annual event on the Senior Citizen's spring calendar.

Today it will be music; next week it will be the fun of fancy hats and birthday parties, according to Willard Wagner, treasurer for the club.

April 10 has been selected for the traditional Easter Hat Parade and the Senior Citizens Club rooms, located on the lower floor of the Baptist Church, will be the scene of much good natured rivalry as unique and colorful hats are paraded and judged following the birthday luncheon for all those in the Aries-Taurus group.

Wagner issued a reminder that everyone wishing to take part in the Club's theater party on April 17 must make reservations today.

A SPECIAL ADDRESS by Sster Christopher of the Convent of the Good Shepherd will be the highlight of the meetings of both the Riordan Fathers' Club when the groups meet next Tuesday evening.

Sister Christopher will discuss the help being given to adolescent girls who are in conflict with society through the program whereby the convent serves as a residence, school and a rehabilitation center.

Mrs. Clifton West, explains that the guild and the club will hold brief business meetings, beginning at 8 p.m., before convening together for Sister Christopher's address.

The Freshman mothers will serve refreshments at the close of the evening's program.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN WUERTHNER, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bocci Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Murray H. Freedman, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ariani, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rhigetti, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rossi and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harden will be among the members of the North Peninsula contingent attending tonight's champagne premiere of the Secret World of Harry Frigg at the Alexandria Theater in San Francisco.

The gala, a benefit by the Golden Gate Kindergarten Association Auxiliary for the Phoebe A. Hearst Presschool Learning Center, is being chaired by Mrs. Robert Kulvin.

IT IS A SMALL WORLD will be the theme of the fashion show and luncheon being planned by the members of the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers Club, according to Mrs. Fernando Pacheco.

Bertolucci's in South San Francisco has been selected for the April 20 event which will spotlight fashions from H. Liebes and commentary by Robert St. Clair.

Mrs. Joseph Daniele and Mrs. Tony Pacheco are reservations chairmen.

WESTLAKE'S Mrs. Thomas Coldarola, Ignation Guild president, has appointed Mrs. John McNulty chairman of "Primavera '68," the guild's fashion show to be presented on April 20 in the Commons Hall on the Campus of the University of San Francisco.

Special guests for this year's fashion extravaganza will be Mrs. Paolo Molajoni, wife of the Italian Consulate and Rinaldo Garbarino, San Francisco area manager for Alitalia Airlines.

Assisting Mrs. McNulty with the preparations are Mrs. Albert Worner, co-chairman, Mrs. Richard Onorato and Mrs. Thomas Kearney, the reservations chairman.

SOME OF US have difficulty just tending ordinary plants but Mrs. Frank Burns is one of the fortunate beings who have a very green thumb

For three years Mrs. Burn has been lavishing attention on a pink mauve cymbidium orchid plant given to her by George Barnes of Burlingame, a blue ribbon member of the Orchid Society, and now her care is paying off in a most spectacular fashion! The plant, which is kept in an eighteen inch redwood box in the yard of Mrs. Burn's Westlake Estates home, is currently ablaze with 125 pink and scarlet blossoms.

EDWARD CUEVS, the gentleman who always does such a delightful job of decorating for the Our Lady of Mercy Spring Festival, is keeping the particulars of this year's festival decor a secret but he has leaked just enough intriguing information to publicity chairman Mrs. Richard Gallani to assure everyone that this festival will have a fiesta flavor.

General chairman of the four day fun-fest, Edward Avanzino has announced that the general theme will be Saludos Amigos, and the floor chairmen, Mrs. Elwin Short and Al Swadley, know that they will be overseeing booths with such names as La Modista and El Tigre but little else is known about the motiff being created by Cuevas and his assistant, the talented local artist, Maureen Welsh.

JAYCEES' BATTLE OF THE BANDS

The Pacifica Jaycees' "Battle of the Bands" scheduled for 7:30 p.m. April 5 and 6 will feature nine bands Friday night and six bands Saturday night, plus a guest appearance by Pacifica's Rock Group the "ARK."

In addition there will be a final playoff Saturday night.

Admission tickets, $1.50 for one night or 82.50 for both nights, will be available at the door, or blocks of tickets are available from Ken Addleman.

Cap Music Concert Is Planned

Capuchino High School music department announced the annual band and choir concert will be held May 2-3 in the school auditorium.

Mr. Ralph Bredenberg's bandoleers and Mr. Harry Spencer's songsters promise to fill the air with "Spectrums of Sound" in one of the most ambitious programs undertaken for a Spring concert.

Capuchino's famous concert band, the stage band, chamber and concert choirs involve more than 200 students playing and singing "longhair-square to the rousing march, the ballad, swing, cool beat and you name it" in displaying talent unlimited.

Tickets for the Annual Concert are only $1 and profits are earmarked for the band uniform fund. Tickets will be available from your favorite musician after Easter vacation.

The Capuchino band's car washers and polishers are getting set for its April 13 car wash.

Owen Bruce, band president is in charge of the car wash, designed to raise funds to defray expenses of trips taken by the band.

The car wash will be at the Capuchino High parking lot at 1500 Magnolia, San Bruno.

Scouts Planning Sale of Tickets

Promptly at 6:30 p.m. Friday 15,000 eager young Cubs and Scouts will fan out through the 16 cities of the Ba yArea council, to begin sale of tickets to their Scout-O-Rama at the Cow Palace on April 27.

Sale of tickets for the all-day show will earn attractive prizes and cash commissions for the boys, with money to be used by packs and troops to finance their year-round activities.

Prizes for boys include such equipment items as flashlights, cameras, field glasses, Scout knives, with bonus prizes for star salesmen of sleeping bags, axes, and packsacks. In addition, a special treasure chest of prizes for ticket sellers includes bicycles, fishing reels, bows and arrows, and trips to Disneyland.

Tickets for the Scout-O-Rama, billed as Northern California's biggest boys' show, are $1 for adults, with children admitted free when accompanied by adults. "America On Display" has been chosen as the theme of the show, featuring hundreds of exciting booth exhibits manned by boys to illustrate the Scouts' confidence in their country's future.

The Bay Area council includes Oakland, San Francisco, all of southern Alameda County and Daly City in San Mateo County.

MOBILITY COURSE

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md. — John A. Mutter, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Mutter, 33 Manzanita Avenue, Daly City, was promoted to Army captain February 23 at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., where he is serving with the Wheeled Vehicle Maintenance Division, Mobility Training Department, U.S. Army Ordnance Center and School.

Westmooran 3rd In Speech Event

Westmoor Senior George Muller placed third in the boys' impromptu speech category at the State Qualifying Tournament in Danville.

Seven Westmoor students accompanied by Westmoor speech teacher, Miss Mary Ann Holden, attended the full day contest. Participating in impromptu, extemporaneous, and original oratory speeches, the Westmoorites acquitted themselves well. George Muller, with his third place rating, is now eligible for the state finals to be held at Stanford in late May.

George, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Muller of 145 Lake Vista Drive, has been active in speech work throughout high school. He is currently president of Junior Statesmen, and a member of the debate team. He also is a sergeant-at-arms and belongs to the Future Business Leaders of America.

In the boys' impromptu division a competitor may go four rounds. In the first round he draws famous quotations. He draws three and selects one and then is goven two minutes to prepare a five-minute speech on the selected topic without notes or outside help. The same procedure is followed for the next three rounds although the categories are changed.

'Unique' SSF Church Rites Easter Sunday

At the actual sunrise hour of 5:36 a.m., Easter Sunday, youth at Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church, South San Francisco, will conduct a unique and different celebration of the holy communion.

David Mullen, student pastor, will lead the communion celebration with guitar accompaniment. The mode of liturgical setting accompanying the service is modern folk melodies rather than the usual liturgical setting of the 16th and 17th century church.

Youth will be seated at tables, and after the holy communion is finished, will be served a breakfast of juices and sweet rolls.

Other festival services at Our Redeemer's are set at 8:30, 9:30 and 11:00 a.m. A service of children's baptisms is scheduled for Easter morning. All four festival services are open to visitors.

Brunan Third At Altamont

ALTAMONT — Burt Foland of Mountain View, taking over the lead for the final time in the seventy-seventh lap, maintained his advantage for the remaining 123 laps to win the Bay Cities Racing Association Midget Car Championship at Altamont Speedway yesterday.

FOR COUNCILMAN
Your Vote only counts when you elect a man who will represent you.
Make your vote count on April 9
VOTE FOR McROBERT "MAC" STEWART FOR COUNCILMAN

McROBERT "MAC" STEWART ☒

MAC STEWART SPEAKS TO THE ISSUES . . .

TAXES . . . Our tax dollars can be spent more efficiently. For example, city hall site cost the taxpayer $925,000 for 4 acres. Property within 8 blocks can be acquired for less than $200,000.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT . . . Requiring residency of city employees is unrealistic. Loyal employees have to quit their jobs if they have to move to another area. Replacing personnel is costly, and finding sufficient qualified applicants is difficult. City police force is understaffed by 13 men. The Personnel Board has recommended the abolishment of this requirement, and it is time that their recommendation and the voice of the city employes be heard.

TERM OF OFFICE . . . A City Councilman's term of office should be limited to two terms in order to encourage more citizens to participate in city government. Incumbents are difficult to unseat and long terms in office sometimes means complacency.

BUSINESS . . . A better business atomosphere could be created for Mission Street merchants with better parking facilities and better cross-town transportation.

RAPID TRANSIT . . . It is not common sense to allow rapid transit to buy property in the city and then take it off the tax rolls without first having some guarantee of control or design. Firm representation could have avoided this dilemma.

REPRESENTATION . . . The voice of the people should not be disregarded. A car wash was built across from an elementary school despite the protests of hundreds of citizens and the matter was taken out of the hands of the Planning Commission. This action constitutes a breakdown in the normal governmental procedures.

GRADING CONTROL ORDINANCE . . . Ordinance controlling grading is needed to insure desirable planning and best utilization of land for the city and its residents.

POLITICAL SIGN ORDINANCE . . . Image created by beautification (which takes our tax dollars) is destroyed by clutter of political signs left standing long after elections are over. Ordinance requiring posting of bond would help to insure that unsightly signs are taken down.

A LIGHT RAIN could not dampen the spirits of those who came to participate in the dedication and official opening of the Sharp Park pedestrian overpass in Pacifica. As Mayor Grace McCarthy cut the ribbon, Councilman Harland Minshew, Mrs. Jane Dennison—one of the original petition for the crossing, Deputy District Engineer R. A. Hayler of the State Department of Public Works, Mrs. Helen Mahler — original petitioner, Mrs. Sarah Caann — petitioner, and Mrs. Maria Carter, chairman of the Community Action Council all waited to be in the first group of Pacificans to us the overcrossing. The group representing many community organizations crossed from the Eureka Square side of the highway to the City Hall where a brief reception was held. (Post Photo)

50 Oblivious To Holdup

A well-mannered gunman held up the Safeway Supermarket in Broadmoor Sunday afternoon while at least 50 shoppers went unknowingly about their business in the giant chain store.

Investigating officer George Carleton said the man casually walked into the store's small office shortly after 5 p.m. carrying a folded newspaper.

As he unfolded the paper in front of two unidentified employees of the supermarket, the gunman politely asked:

"Pardon me, but have you ever been shot with a 38 caliber revolver?"

He next ordered the employees to open the store safe in the adjoining cashier's booth, and finally gave up when he was told several times neither clerk knew the combination.

The clerks were then ordered to open the cashier's booth and cash drawer.

After scooping up an estimated $500 in bills from the drawer, the suspect bolted from the store and into a waiting green 1962 Buick.

Daly City police later found the getaway car abandoned a short distance from the holdup scene. It had been stolen earlier from the Serra Bowl Parking Lot.

Carleton described the suspect as 30 years old, 5 foot 9 inches tall, weighing 165 pounds, blonde hair and dressed in a golf hat and blue jacket.

CHUTISTS' BADGE

FT. BENNING, Ga. — Army Private Paul E. Adami, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Adami, 266 Lincoln Avenue, Daly City, received a Parachutist Badge March 6 upon completion of the Infantry School's three-week airborne course at Ft. Benning, Ga.

His training, which included five jumps from a C-130 airplane flying 170 miles an hour at an altitude of 1,250 feet, qualified him as a parachutist. He also underwent strenuous physical conditioning.

Thieves Get 100 Yards of Carpet

A hundred square yards of carpeting valued at more than $1,000 was stolen from the Serra Theatre on Junipero Serra Boulevard in Daly City sometime last week, police reported today.

Officers said the plush carpeting, scheduled for use in a redecorating project this week, was taken from a storage room at the movie theater.

Panel Elected At Hospital

At the annual general membership meeting of the Advisory Board for Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, the following officers were elected to the Executive Committee: Roy A. Bronson, chairman; Jack F. Hickey, first vice chairman; J. Hart Clinton, second vice chairman; Edmund T. King, third vice chairman and Henry (Bud) Bostwick, Jr., secretary.

This executive committee exists to coordinate the activities and projects of the Advisory Board, which serves as counsel to the hospital administration in such areas as community relations, finance and hospital planning.

He 'Beats the Price'

A good hi-fi set is expensive these days, especially for a high school senior, but 17-year-old Kevon Cottrell of Westmoor High School found a way to beat the price.

Kevon built his own set during his industrial arts classes at school.

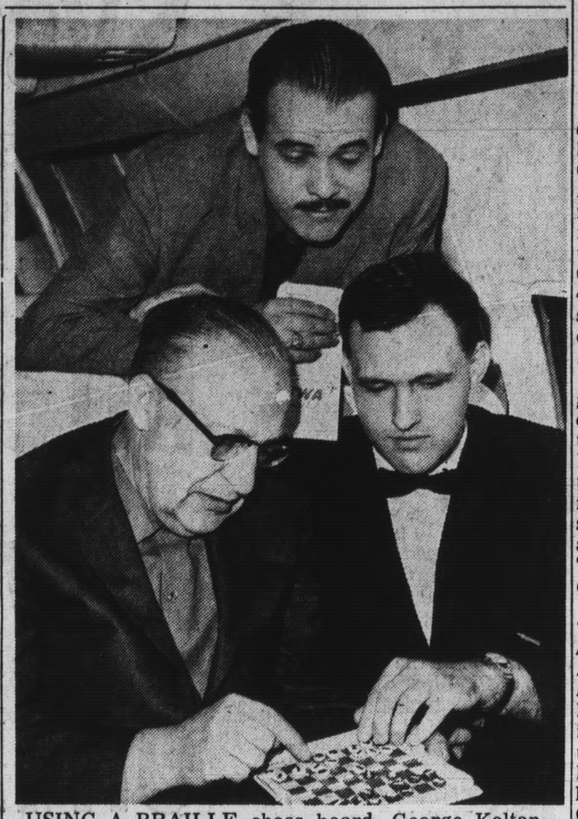
Kevon has been working on the hi-fi two hours a day since September. It is the final piece in his bedroom furniture collection. The bedroom set also includes two dressers and a desk. To build the hi-fi Kevon used $50 worth of solid walnut, which he purchased himself, and a second hand B and N turntable from a car.

In his years at Westmoor Kevon has studied industrial arts under the guidance of Mick Polillo and Bill Cornejo.

"Kevon is one of the outstanding among the students I've had in the eight years I've been at Westmoor," Polillo explained.

Kevon has been awarded Westmoor High's "Industrial Arts Student of the Month" award three times, and received honorable mentions at the San Mateo Industrial Arts County Fair. Besides his major projects he has been creating numerous other small articles, such as mahogany arm rests for his car.

Kevon hopes to continue working with wood after he graduates from Westmoor, if only as a hobby.



USING A BRAILLE chess board, George Koltanowski, left, coaches Grant Metcalf of South San Francisco aboard a TWA jet to London where Metcalf will compete in the 3rd Annual Chess Olympics for the blind. T. T. Perry, who will serve as a personal guide, looks on. Metcalf, 27, is an organist in a Peninsula restaurant, and will join two other blind U.S. Team members for the international competition, April 1-8.

D.C. Girl To Asilomar For Confab

Hoping to meet people with different backgrounds and "to have fun," Westmoor student Gail Bloom will be traveling to Asilomar to attend the 11th Human Rights Conference "Community or Chaos" sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee. Gail will be among 400 northern California high school students chosen to participate in this conference from April 9-11.

Through its world-wide programs of relief, rehabilitation, community relations, institutions, and seminars, American Friends Service Committee attempts to "relieve human suffering and to seek non-violent solutions to conflicts — personal, national, and international." This organization is supported entirely by contributors.

To deal with the subject of "community" as a goal for Afro-Americans, Mexican Americans, and middle class American youth, American Friends Service Committee has invited three guests to speak to the students: David E. Smith, M.D., M.S., medical director of Haight-Ashbury Medical Clinic, Cesar Chavez, president of United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, and John Lewis, associate to Southern Regional Council, Atlanta, Georgia.

Other students whom Gail will be meeting at the seminar will be coming from public and private schools from rural and urban communities, and from other countries. All races, faiths, and economic groups will be represented. By having varied students with different interest all join together, it is the A.F.S.C.'s objective to let the students become informed and alerted about the problems facing the community and each other.

After each of the guests has spoken, students will be able to join small discussion groups, trying to answer such questions as — Is education important? What kind of an American society are we all trying to create? What are the causes of chaos? What are the ways to achieve a community?

Gail was selected by the A.F.S.C. on the basis of her essay, explaining why she would like to go to the conference. Having lived in Westlake for 10 years, Gail would like to meet young people who are not typical of being "middle class." A sophomore at Westmoor, Gail is taking Latin American History and enriched world history, which have given her a better understanding of different cultures. In the future, Gail plans for a career in social science.

LE PACINI WRITES:

Giant Comeback Signalled for Bruce Hix?

To the average baseball fan a small item in one of the San Francisco dailies last week mentioning the farming out of "Bruce Hix, a catcher," represented merely a filler, a sentence used to fill up the bottom of a news item which had pulled up short on copy.

But to Bruce Hix it may have signaled a comeback of more heroic proportions than Mike McCormick's. And perhaps the most valuable lesson he'll ever learn.

Hix, who you remember as the all-everything athlete from Westmoor, wrote a voulntary finis to what had seemed to be a potentially productive career in mid-season last year when he suddenly jumped Waterbury, the Giant farm club in the Eastern League, and came home to drive a truck and brood over the real and-or imagined injustices inherent in any large business.

It was the typical story of youthful disillusionment with the realities of a glamorous occupation.

What Hix had learned were the cold, cruel facts of professional sports mathematics, the theorem being that performance doesn't necessarily equal reward, or, put more crudely, no matter how good you are, you've gotta be damned better than the guy above you, and even if you are, nobody's going to hand you the job.

Hix had gone to the Phoenix training camp last spring full of high hopes. Behind him were two fine years (all-star status, .300 plus batting averages) of low minor league ball, including a season at Fresno in which he had out-hit Al Gallagher, the Giants' heralded $50,000 bonus draft choice.

When the practice games began, Hix's hitting was sensational against Coast League pitching. Gallagher and Bobby Etheridge were tabbed as the big men in the Giant organization at that time behind Jimmy Hart and Jim Davenport, but for a little while, at least, Hix, who had been shifted to an unnatural position (second base) at Fresno the year before to accomodate Gallagher, was outplaying them.

Bruce knew the odds were against him, that he was fighting economics and logistics. Etheridge was 26 and running out of options, and the Giants owed him a good, hard look. They had $50,000 invested in Gallagher, and there was even the supreme Coast League utility man, Ozzie Virgil, who the Giants always keep kicking around their farms in case of pennant race emergencies.

Phoenix papers asked, "How can they keep Hix off the Phoenix roster" and Hix says he "Hung in there, waiting for a miracle to happen. I didn't expect to beat Etheridge out. He's a good, experienced player. But the funny part about it, even while I was getting all the writeups in Phoenix, I knew I would have to be shipped out. Nobody told me directly—until the day it happened—but I caught the hints."

There were, of course, Gallagher and Etheridge and Virgil, and the limiting 21 man roster, and when Bruce made it known he would be satisfied playing a utility roll, he was told that 20 years old is too young to a spot player, that he should play regularly. ("Hell," said Hix at the time, echoing the anguished cry of all youth, "it's not my fault I'm so young!")

And then, of course, there were the mild suggestions that Bruce try catching, which Hix declined because of a football knee.

Finally, there was the inevitable cut-down day.

"I didn't even mind being sent out so much," says Hix in his version of the story, "but it was the way they did. I came in from the field one day and saw my name on a blackboard with some others. It said we were going to Waterbury and to pick up our tickts from the secretary."

All very impersonable; no pats on the backside, no encouraging words. Just tickets. A story which can be told by hundreds of young ball players.

Next came Waterbury, a cold, damp league with, adds Giant Farm System Secretary Jack Schwarz, with a wry chuckle, long fences.

Hix says he had chills the whole time he was there, lost 10 pounds, and then jumped the club in a move he knew was inexorable from the first day he arrived in Waterbury.

"I'll never catch, and I'll never play for the Giants again," said Hix, bouncing from one job to another. And then, following the age-old line of all ball players whose personal evaluations of their abilities don't quite measure up to the evaluations of their bosses, "I want to be traded." (Later, in desperation, he even asked to be released.)

There followed a series of fruitless "unofficial" communications with Giant representatives, who let Hix know that a team which owns players like Marichal and McCovey and Hart and Mays doesn't mess around with a 20 year old class A player, but which on the other hand hates to give up on a kid who swings a bat the way Bruce does.

"You can't be traded driving a truck," he was told. "You have to showcase yourself." Bruce was offered his old job at Fresno.

"Why should I go there," was the reply, "I've already proven myself in Fresno."

And then a whole harbor full of lost boats piled up on Hix. For example, Gallagher had been loaned to the Cub PCL farm team, Tacoma, and when he had to serve a six month Army hitch in mid-season, Leo Durocher asked if Hix would be available to fill the position. "Jumped the club," Leo was told, and he lost interest. Two other National League teams expressed strong interests in Hix, but Bruce was back in Daly City working for a supply company.

And then early last month that miracle happened that Bruce had hoped for last year in Phoenix. He got a call one day from the Giants who asked him if he would like to come to the Big Camp for spring training and catch batting practice and work in the bull pen. Bruce got a haircut and was on his way.

His parents have gotten one letter and one phone call (collect) from Bruce since he left, and they're not even sure where he's headed (although he is now signed to a Phoenix contract) but they're sure it isn't Daly City, not, at least, until baseball season's over.

Last year Bruce Hix, high school all-everything, was 20 years old and couldn't help it. This year he's 21, that mystical, magical age when a boy becomes a man.

Westmoor Spikes Still Undefeated

The Westmoor High track team can look forward to the April 6 King City Relays with three straight North Peninsula Atheltic League dual meet victories under its belt.

The third came last week against the El Camino Colts, 67-60, at the loser's oval—

The two squads were fairly evenly matched and the times generally just average. One exception was the long jump mark of Westmoor's senior standout Gill Noennick. His 222-¾ effort earned him a school record.

Kim Clark, Westmoor's top hurdler, won both of the high hurdle events.

Westmoor is now 3-0 in NPL dual meet competition. It meets Half Moon Bay at home today before traveling to King City.

El Camino turned the tables on Westmoor by winning the Class B meet 81-46, but lost the Class C event 75-10.

Serra High Rallies To Down Cap

Serra High School tuned up for its impending West Coast Athletic League season in impressive style Friday, and the Pads did it all after two batters were out.

The Padres, trailing, 3-1, exploded for four big runs in the bottom of the fifth inning and then went on to defeat Capuchino, 5-3, in a practice game at Fitzgerald Field.

Serra opens its WCAL wars Tuesday in San Francisco against St. Ignatius. Friday's victory gave the Pads a 5-4 practice record.

Serra's big rally started after two men were down. Tom Scott started things rolling with a single, followed by Gene Zanardi with another safety. Kevin Coyne got on on an error and Scott scored. Zanardi then came in on Paul Wilson's single and Mike Bazzani followed with a two-run single to cap the scoring spree.

Tom Hicklin drove in Cap's only earned run with a single in the fourth.

Darby Fuerst went the distance for the Pads, striking out only one and giving up only one walk. The game also marked the return of Cap's Roger Carmine following an illness. The all-around athlete pitched one inning and gave up one hit.

'Hoop Burners'

Trojans Remain League Leaders

The Trojans remained the only unbeaten team in the Adult Three-Man "Hoop Burners' Division" Basketball league, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, as they tripped up the OLPH No. 2 club, 40-25. Heading the Trojan attack were Hoppe Thompson, Clyde Sargent, and Willie Price.

Art Zamora scored 10 points to spearhead the OLPH efforts.

The Misfits No. 2 pulled off the league's biggest upset last week as they knocked off the previously undefeated Misfits No. 1 club, 41-33. Don Kelley was the key man for the No. 2 gang, as he bucketed 26 points.

The Sandbaggers picked up their third win, trimming the Calvary Cross Men's Club, 40-35, behind the 13 point scoring of John Koljian and Darl Williams. John Donaldson scored 15 points to lead the losers.

The Hawks ripped OLPH No. 1, 40-23. Mike Bryant's 16 points and Herb Antone's 11 markers were all the Hawks needed to capture the win.

Three-Way Tie

The Question Mark threw the Daly City Recreation Department's High School Three-Man Hunch league into a three-way deadlock for first place last week by upsetting the Statisticians 40-22 behind the 19-point scoring of Dan Coffey and the 10-point assist of Paul Reynolds.

The winners walloped the Fearless Flies, 41-28, as Ken Warde, Mike Cremin, and Jim Jestra all notched double figures.

Al Olcese scored 18 times and Nils Birkeland contributed 16 points to lead the Hoop Burners to a 41-30 win over the Posse. Len Costillo once again spearheaded the Posse attack by notching 16 points.

The Bandidos edged the Hot Shots, 41-37, behind the outstanding shooting efforts of Vic Shoenstein, Mike Goicovich, and Bob Dekelaita. Steve Jones and Scott Swanson scored 16 and 14 points, respectively, to pace the losers.

The Four Stars rambled past the Rabbits, 40-27, behind the all-around play of Steve Christiano and Ennis Kelsey. Bob Galianni scored 21 points to keep the Rabbits in the game.

Indian Nine Moves Into First Place

Jefferson High emerged from Friday's North Peninsula Athletic League baseball action as the only team yet undefeated with sole claim to first place.

The Indians capitalized on four Half Moon Bay errors while collecting seven hits and breezed to a 6-1 victory in a contest played on Jeff's home field.

Every possible kind of error was made, fielding and throwing. Jeff jumped off to a 3-0 first inning bulge and was never troubled.

In other NPC action, Westmoor took its first league victory at the expense of second-place El Camino, 3-2, on Rams' home diamond.

Doug Matgen was the star everything for Westmoor—hitting, running and fielding. He went three for three at the plate, and scored the winning run in the top of the sixth.

Both Paul Burke of El Camino and Grady Proctor of Westmoor had home runs with a man aboard.

In yesterday's third NPL tilt Mario Bernardini of South San Francisco proved he must have seen some old Jackie Robinson movies.

Dons Edge Sharks, 4-3

Aragon High's baseball team rattled off a four-run fourth inning Friday to defeat Octana, 4-3, in a practice game at the Don diamond.

Oceana led 3-0 going into the fourth inning. Then Aragon exploded. Freshman David Robb was safe on an error and later singled home by Bruce Nelson. Nelson scored a towering home run by Jon Clabough. Bill Rasnick singled and scored from first on a hit-and-run shot by Bob Dierkes. That was all, but that was enough. Dave Biggio was credited with the win.

Aragon's record now stands at 3-4-1. The Dons host Capuchino next Tuesday.

Whitfield Sets Nor-Cal Best

Spurred on by a performance that ranks as the best in Northern California to date, South San Francisco High School easily won a North Peninsula League dual track meet Friday.

Ashland Whitfield, a swift young Warrior of whom you will hear much more in the future, ran to a sensational 19.3 clocking in the 180-low hurdles, one-half second better than his previous best and the fastest time ever for the barrier race at the Industrial City school.

Whitfield, who ranks as the best hurdler in the Central Coast section, is capable of improving his performance, in the opinion of Warrior Coach Marv Ashby.

Whitfield also won the high hurdles yesterday, posting a 15-flat clocking that indicates that his forte is speed rather than form.

Whitfield's record race was the only noteworthy mark in the meet. Ross Galloway won the 100 and long jump for South S.F. in the Class B meet and Ed Cardona was a double winner in the C meet.

In yesterday's only other North Peninsula League meet, Jefferson smashed Half Moon Bay, 86-32, off a socko Brother Act.

Ron and Tony Schrock led the Indian assault with two individual victories each. Tony won with 440 in 53 seconds flat and took the high jump with a 5-5 mark. Ron won the high hurdles in 17.2 and the 880 in 2:10.6.

Jefferson also won both lightweight meets.

Gymnastics Unit Works at T.N.

By ALICE REICHERT

Among the many sports available to the members of the Terra Nova Athletic Association, one somewhat unsung group is the gymnastics team, advised by P.E. instructor Mrs. Phyllis Cox.

Girls interested, and willing to work, are able to join. About 15 girls attend regularly every Thursday during the school year to learn stunts in floor exercise, trampoline, balance beam, and uneven parallel bars.

One small group of girls on tthe team is practicing stunts in Swedish gymnastics. This will include stunts with Swedish balls and hoops.

The girls have attended competitive meets including girls from high schools all over Northern California. Those girls who have done well in the first meet are invited to try out for the next meet. This will include girls from each of the seven high schools in the League, on April 27 at Westmoor.

A performance by the team is scheduled April 24 at the Linda Mar Convalescent Home. There are hopes for other performances, but nothing is definite at this time.

Main members for the next few meets are: Marilyn Williard, Cathy Bracco, Ginny Coil, and Mary Ann Patterson on trampoline; Donna Van Sickle and Benda Martin on balance beam; Joanne Gribble, Pat Henry, and Pat Howard on floor exercise. Semi-regular attendants are Gina Kibblewhite, Ramona Jackson, Tony Racanelli, Cathy Racanelli, and Sue Peterson.

Junior Champ Olympics Set

The Pacifica Jaycees, in cooperation with the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department, announced the fourth annual junior champ olympics.

The event is co-sponsored by the Pepsi Cola Company, along with many Pacifica merchants.

This year's olympics will be held at Terra Nova High School May 18, with boys and girls between the ages of nine and fourteen eligible for competition.

The program will begin at 9 a.m. with opening ceremonies. The track and field competition will immediately follow and should end at 3 p.m.

Instruction clinics will be conducted after school during the week beginning April 22, 1968 at Westview, Sanchez, Linda Mar, Pacific Manor, Sharp Park and Vallemar playgrounds.

Students will be contacted through their schools or may obtain information from the Park, Beach and Recreation Department.

El Camino Stops Jeff Swim Team

El Camino High School's swim team is ambitious if nothing else. The Colts whipped Jefferson 78-11 in a North Peninsula Athletic League meet at Jeff Thursday, and already are looking forward to their April 18 meeting with league favorite South San Francisco.

Certainly the Colts' record doesn't hold any justification for eagerness; the victory over Jefferson only evened up the mark at 3-3.

And the meet times were not particlarly good. Of course this may have been caused by the fact that the sides of the Jefferson pool are hard to see, making good turns difficult.

But the Colts got a good performance from junior Larry Mallarino, who copped both the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle events. And according to Colt coach Leroy Farewell the team is still developing, so perhaps the optimism isn't entirely misplaced.

Jefferson took both the Class B and the Class C meets, 65-17 and 60-5.

third win against one loss this year for the Warriors.

North Peninsula League baseballaction last week produced an early season tie for first between Jefferson High and El Camino, while Half Moon Bay and Westmoor joined South San Francisco to the cellar.

Jeff earned the tie for top spot by blanking Westmoor 3-0 on the loser's home diamond. Ken Reitz led the six-hit Indian onslaught wtih a single and a double, in two runs and scored one himself.

Jeff is now 2-0 in NPL play and goes on to play cellardweller Half Moon Bay at the Cougars' field Friday, while Westmoor travels to El Camino.

El Camino continued its winning ways, coming from behind in the last inning to score a 5-2 decision over Oceana on the Sharks' field. The Colts, trailing 2-1 at the top of the seventh, exploded for four runs to maintain its early season perch at the top of the standings.

In other play last week, Terra Nova evened its league mark 1-1 by blasting Half Moon Bay 6-2 on its home field. Terra Nova's Clancy Smith provided some pyrotechnics with a sixth inning home run, but the damage had been done long before then. The loss dropped Half Moon Bay to the cellar.

Relay Team Paces Cats To Victory

The San Mateo High track team kept its perfect record intact by rolling to an easy 89-38 victory over South San Francisco on the Bearcat oval.

The Mateans, paced by their 440 relay team, posted their third straight victory against no defeats.

In two of the most exciting duels of the day, South SF speedster Russ Cottrell posed narrow victories over Emery. Cottrell bested Emery by one-tenth of a second in the 100 with a 10 flat effort and then came back for a similar one-tenth of a second triumph over Emery in the 220 with a 22.8 clocking.

Craig Newgard won the shot-put for the Bearcats with a 52-8 effort.

In the class B meet, double victories by Mel Williams and Frank Rovers paced the little Bearcats to a 72-54 victory. San Mateo is at Crestmoor Friday, while the Warriors travel to El Camino for a league meet.

THREE TIMES

Warriors Tame Tiger Mermen

"I'm going to sleep well tonight," said ecstatic South San Francisco High School swim coach Cliff Sansot after his teams had hosted Terra Nova Thursday afternoon.

He had good reason for his euphoria. All three Warrior teams won their North Peninsula Athletic League events handily.

The varsity meet, which the Warriors took 57-38, was highlighted by extra-effort performances from Jim Stewart and Tom Bonzell. Both had been figured for third places at the beginning of the meet, but both found an extra reserve to finish first, recording the "times of their lives." Sansot also praised the diving of Rick Kean.

The Warriors are now 2-0 in league play and 3-4 over-all.

South San Francisco scored three double victories in Class B competition en route to a stunning 70-12 victory. Jim Johnston, Kirk Smith, and Don Appleton each swam to first in two events. Appleton broke one meet record and two pool records in leading the B's to their third win of the season against four defeats.

The Warrior Class mermen ran their record to 6-1 by crushing their Terra Nova counterparts 54-14. Again the Warriors placed three double winners: Chuck Sackett, Bob Norris, and Dave Brett.

Stickney's of San Mateo Plans Easter Egg Hunt

ROBERT HOFFMEYER, cordial manager of the San Mateo Stickney's restaurant, has come up with a fun idea for Easter Sunday that will include the whole family. An Easter Egg Hunt will be held in the International Room from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. An exclusive at Stickney's of San Mateo, Moms and pops of the little ones will not only enjoy a delightful breakfast, but can delight in seeing their children search for the golden eggs. There will be gifts galore for the lucky egg finders. The hunt, which will get under way at 9:30 a.m., will continue through the day at one hour intervals until 1:30 p.m. A bountiful family buffet includes a glass of champagne or a New Orleans Fizz for Mom and Dad. Easter Brunch prices are most reasonable — $2.75 for adults; kiddies (6 to 12) $1.45; under 6, free. The dining room (open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.) will feature a special selection of family dinners served from 12 noon to 9 p.m. The regular menu will also be available.

IN THIS SECTION — Simon Oakland (right) who plays a tough police captain in the new Universal flick "Bullitt" now filming in San Francisco, was all smiles as Phil Lehr showed him around the elegant Wellington Room at Phil Lehr's Steakery, Taylor and Ellis Streets in downtown San Francisco. Oakland raved about the stunning decor as well as the fork-tender steaks.

THE BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HOTEL is a lodging and dining tradition with countless visitors to the Peninsula, who, through the years, have witnessed the modernization of the hotel facilities, under the direction of hotel director Erwin Best. One of their first questions when first visiting town is usually, "Does the Benjamin Franklin Hotel still serve those delicious breakfasts, luncheons and dinners?" The answer is yes, with chef Karl Faigle now in charge of the culinary duties. Serving meals seven days a week from 6 a.m. until 8:45 p.m., this downtown San Mateo Hotel also invites your banquet patronage. The Peninsula Room seats up to 250 persons, and the Fireside Room nicely accommodates smaller groups and private meetings. Chef Faigle will be delighted to help you plan a special menu for any occasion. Transportation to and from the airport is another service of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, which truly rates the title of "The Park Avenue of the Peninsula."

VERN COENENBERG, THE GENTLEMAN "Rancher" who created the Black Angus Chuck Wagon, has been missing from the San Mateo restaurant site for the past few days. Could be Verne is back in Chicago receiving another award from the American Restaurant Association. In his absence, chef James Pierce is holding the "reins" of the "All you can eat" Chuck Wagon ... Large groups from Paul Revere Life Insurance and Max Factor Cosmetics have been utilizing the fine banquet facilities at Fred and Jerry Rapp's South San Francisco Holiday Inn, thsse past few weeks. Also seen at the Holiday Inn recently was a large delegation of United Airlines employees, who were gathered for a gala cocktail party ... Next time you lunch or dine at Doros, San Francisco's gourmet haven on Montgomery, ask owner Don Dianda to show you his office. He has stuffed heads of elk, antelope, bobcats, deer, buffalo and pheasants adorning the walls — all shot by Dianda himself on hunts in Wyoming.

"The Campbells Are Coming" To Scotty Campbell's

Wonder how many of you have noticed the musical wrought iron room divider in Scotty Campbell's dining room. Only an accomplished musician could inform you on what the wrought iron notes signify — so I think I will. The musical scale is 'The Campbells Are Coming,' and only Scotty Campbell, the great wit of his day, could have been the instigator. Ask co-owner Theresa Urban to show you this interesting piece of work.

Spyros Stamos, the world's outstanding cymbalon virtuoso, who entertains for dinner at the Balkan Village on Saturdays from 6 p.m., may make a summer tour to Greece. He has been invited by Maestro Leonard Bernstein of the New York Symphony to visit Athens to perform in concerts.

For those of you planning outdoor or indoor party functions and would like to serve the finest Farm Fried Chicken available, plus all the extra yummies, just phone Albert Christensen at Fosters Original Pancake and Chicken House and he'll give you all the particulars. Even a special price on large orders.

Joe Marcellino, one of the Bay Area's most popular baton swingers, and his orchestra keep the A. Sabella's on Fisherman's Wharf crowds in a groovy mood and answer requests for favorite tunes.

Outside Catering Next Move For Shadows' Crew

Dave Rasmussen and his Shadows of San Mateo crew are always looking to the future. Effective now, Dave, George McCaman and Bill Mills have entered the catering business. Large private parties, whether catered in the home or office, are their specialty, and they extend their catering service throughout the Peninsula area.

An expansion program for the Shadows is also now in progress. May 15 is the target date for completion of the banquet project.

Take heed, you folks who wait until the last minute to make reservations for special occasion days: The Villa Chartier and Lanai restaurants will serve their traditional Easter Sunday Brunch and Dinners, and now is the time to make reservations. 341-3456 will bring results.

Although known especially for traditional "Southern" dishes such as Chicken and Dumplings and Baked Virginia Ham, the New Southern restaurant also serves a variety of Continental dinners. Such palate tempters as Veal Scallopine, Veal Parmagiana and Rollatine of Veal are big favorites

Enrico Romano's pizza production line is now up to a factory operation. Your Bright Lighter can remember in days gone by when Enrico, his mother, and a salad maker, who doubled as dishwasher, were the only faces in the kitchen. At last count, there were 10 staff members in this Italian restaurant in Pacifica and moving around like Internal Revenue agents on April 15.

WINNING SMILE — Attractive Lorraine Gust (with her ever-ready reservation pencil at hand) is trying to figure out just when she and hubby Nick, will preem their additional Nick's restaurant, which will add even more nautical romance to the coast of Pacifica. Latest reports reveal that it should be ready for reservations just before Mother's Day.

A winning "daily or nightly double" at Sil Olivia's Exposition Fish Grotto is Harold Varni and Augie Rosasco, who have been calling restaurant signals at this world famous Fisherman's Wharf haunt for many happy years. You wouldn't believe the number of cool water suggestions that are prepared here to afford taste enjoyment.

International Joe's A Blend of Italy And Tropical Islands

Bruno Scatena's new International Joe's in Daly City is a blend of Italy and Tahiti. Giving his patrons the choice of wonderful island delicacies and Italian cuisine, International Joe's features a varied menu affording exquisite pleasure. Cocktails, too, are added attractions, with such tropical drinks as Navy Grog, Sharks Tooth and a Fog Cutter now being served in the intimate pianobar cocktail lounge. Open seven days and seven nights; plenty of free parking space.

Kenny Burt, whose trio is featured nightly in the posh lounge of the Thunderbolt Hotel, Millbrae, tells this funny about a recent golfing partner: It seems Kenny's buddy was such a compulsive liar, he put down zero on his score card after finally making a hole-in-one.

When you take mom and all the kids to Rudolfo's in Palo Alto for a delicious steak dinner, you'll make a hit with them on several counts. The friendly restaurant is operated by the Alfinito brothers, who welcome the family trade. The atmosphere is relaxing and European, and the prices are moderate.

Ever wonder how handsome Vince Licata stays so trim? "No problem," said the proprietor of Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant. "I eat seafood four times a week."

Yours Truly tried this formula —and it really works! Only trouble is staying away from the dessert menu.

Seasonings and Shaping Can Create Fascinating Changes in Ground Beef

An honest-to-goodness meat loaf is a rarity, indeed. This one is held together with a single egg and a few bread crumbs, leaving it "basic" to which you can add without subtracting from the good beef flavor. Glaze it if you like with the spicy catsup mixture and add a few mushrooms or tiny cubes of cheese and a dash of dill. Or shape it into meatballs or patties. Or bake it in a pie pan with pizza sauce and cheese. Create a fine French sauce, simply, with wine and mushrooms.

When you're in a hurry and want to stretch the budget, ground beef is your best bet. A decorative skillet filled wiht mounds of fresh vegetables and a juicy beef patty makes a colorful and satisfying meal. Circle the browned one-pound beef patty with parboiled vegetables, then bake together in the oven.

A giant cheeseburger grill makes a handsome and hearty main dish. Season gronud beef elegantly with burgundy, dill weed and onion, then shape into two giant patties about nine inches in diameter. After grilling stack together with grated sharp Cheddar cheese and serve in wedges.

MEAT LOAF WITH MANY MOODS

Change the shape of this basic meat loaf according to your own mood. It's as basic as a string of pearls. Season away to your heart's content and serve with an elegant wine sauce.

1 egg
1 cup fine soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon hickory smoked salt
teaspoon pepper
¾ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
3 tablespoons minced onion
3 tablespoons minced parsley
½ cup milk
1 pound ground chuck
Glaze

Beat egg with fork and combine with crumbs, seasonings and milk. Blend in beef mixing lightly. Pack into lightly oiled 7½x3½x2¼-inch loaf pan and turn out on shallow baking pan. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Brush with Glaze and continue baking 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

GLAZE: Combine ¼ cup catsup or chli sauce, 1 teaspoon brown sugar, ½ teaspoon prepared mustard and 1 tablespoon vinegar.

BEEF BALLS DE LUXE: Shape beef mixture into 20 (1½-inch) balls to serve as entree or 40 (¾-inch) balls for hors d'oeuvres.

MUSHROOM BEEF LOAF: Chop 1 (4-ounce) can mushrooms and add to beef mixture. Mushroom liquid may be used for part of milk, if desired.

CHEESE 'N' BEEF LOAF: Add 1 cup tiny cubes Swiss or Cheddar cheese and ½ teaspoon dried dill to beef mixture. Bake in loaf pan so melted cheese will not run out during cooking.

SKILLET BEEF AND VEGETABLES

Mounds of fresh garden vegetables surround a juicy beef patty, bake blissfully and go to the table in the skillet.

1 egg
¾ cup fine soft bread crumbs
½ cup catsup
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
1 pound ground beef chuch
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 cups thinly sliced onions
3 cups sliced potatoes
1½ cups sliced carrots
1 cup sliced celery
1½ cups sliced zucchini
½ cup water

Combine lightly beaten egg with crumbs, catsup, minced onion, 1 teaspoon salt and Worchestershire sauce. Add beef and mix thoroughly with fork. Shape into thick patty, about 6 inches diameter. Place beef patty in center of large skillet with oil; sprinkle onions around it. Brown beef on both sides, turning carefully with pancake turner and spatula. Stir onions frequently as beef browns. Meanwhile, arrange separate groups of potatoes, carrots, celery and zucchini in large second skillet. Add water and sprinkle with remaining 2 teaspoons salt. Cover and parboil 5 minutes. When meat is browned on both sides, push onions together to one side of skillet. Using a slotted spoon, place parbroiled vegetables around beef. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes until meat is cooked and vegetables are tender. Turn vegetables over gently, so pan juices season them. Makes 4 or more servings.

PARTY SOUP

In saucepan, combine 1 can each condensed cream of asparagus and tomato soups with 1 soup can milk and 1 soup can water, for a party soup. Heat; do not boil. Stir now and then. Serves 4 to 6.

Walnut-Studded Orange Bread for a Bridge Get-Together

Bridge get-togethers are a popular way to entertain. Following the game, light refreshments are in order. As a change from the usual cake or pie, may we suggest a walnut studded orange bread? Thinly sliced and served with whipped cream cheese, this bread bursting with the flavor of fresh oranges, is a delectable snack with coffee or tea.

On another occasion, when you wish a selection to satisfy your guests' sweet tooth, Ambrosia Cupcakes are the answer. Delicately textured, topped with a fluffy frosting and coconut, this is a treat to please the foursome.

To the smart women of today the nutritional value of the orange plays a major role in planning family as well as party menus. One medium (3-inch) orange, for instance packs enough vitamin C to satisfy the recommended daily dietary allowance. The low calorie content is appreciated, and dental experts also assure us that oranges are excellent tooth cleansers.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, and baking soda. Cream butter or margarine; beat in honey until light and creamy. Add egg and orange rind; beat well. Mix in flour mixture alternately with orange juice. Stir in walnuts. Pour into greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in 350 degree F. oven 1 hour and 10 minutes or until bread tests done. Add flour mixture alternately with orange juice; blend well after each addition. Fill greased 2½-inch muffin pans ½ full. Bake in 375 degree F. oven about 20 minutes, or until cupcakes test done. Cool on a cooling rack. Frost with Orange 7-Minute Frosting. Sprinkle coconut over frosting. (Approximately ½ cup grated coconut will be required.) Makes about 16 2½-inch cupcakes.

HANDING MRS. ELEANOR NETTLE the Alumna-of-the-Year award for her work in the community in contributing to youth is Burlingame High School Student Body President Ross Aldrich.

Mrs. Sterry Tells Views On Pay Plan

Belmont Councilwoman Eve Sterry today issued a statement concerning the council pay proposal to be voted on at the April 9 election.

"There has been widespread public suggestion that a "no" vote against the $150 Belmont city council salary proposal on the April 9 election ballot would preclude a lesser salary for Belmont councilmen. This however is not ture. Actually, any salary can be adopted and could even go into effect immediately upon approval on the basis of the attorney general's "state of war" opinion suspending the prohibition of salary increases during term of office.

The League of California Cities' legal counsel states of this opinion as follows:

"This means that salaries for elected officers or those serving a fixed term are payable when they are approved, and the officer need not wait until the beginning of his new term or until the next election if he happens to be a councilman."

The Belmont ballot question, voted for 3 to 2 by the council, however is a "go for broke" and "all of nothing at all" sort of gamble. Voters should not be confused into believing that there are no alternatives for the $150 on this basis.

Belmont, is a general law city. The League counsel also states that reimbursement for "actual and necessary" expenses incurred in the performance of city business may be made to councilmen regardless of whether or not they receive a salary; that "it is the city council which must determine the relationship of the expenditure to the purpose"; and that "the courts will not generally interfere with the discretion of city officials in determining what is necessary and proper to carry out municipal functions."

Prior to the time of the $150 council salary the expense accounts turned in by councilmen averaged between $40 and $50 per councilman per month.

While $150 per month salary per councilman may readily be afforded in other cities and especially in cities larger than Belmont, this much is not in keeping with our picture of depleted reserves and extremely tight budgeting, and $50 or $75 per month salary should be far more realistic and should not leave any councilman out of pocket."

Levi Strauss and Co. has announced the appointment of Harry Cohn as assistant general merchandise manager, a new position. Formerly merchandise manager of the company's casuals department, Cohn, in his new post, will assist in supervising product development and merchandising of all of the company's garment lines for men and boys.

FIRES EXPERT

FT. KNOX, Ky. — Army Private Ray J. Whiteside, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melborn C. Whiteside, 133 Club Drive, San Carlos, fired expert with the M-14 rifle near the completion of basic combat training at Ft. Knox, Ky., March 8.

High Honor To Mrs. Nettle

Five years ago, the graduating class of 1947 from Burlingame High School decided to do service and recognition to a graduate of that school. This honor was named the Alumna-of-the-Year. In a recent assembly at Burlingame, this award was given to Mrs. Eleanor Nettle, this year's recipient. A graduate in the class of 1931, Mrs. Nettle was awarded the Alumna-of-the-Year for her work in the community in contributing to youth.

Mrs. Nettle, one of California's foremost lay leaders in the field of education, has been a member of the San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees since 1956 and has thrice served as its president. She is also a member of the State Coordinating Council for Higher Education (since its inception in 1960), president of the California School Boards Association (CSBA), member (since 1957) and former chairman of the San Mateo Council Juvenile Justice Commission (as well as chairman of its 1967 "Narcotics Inquiry"), and member of the legislation committee of the National School Boards Association. Former activities include terms as first and second vice president of CSBA, as well as chairman of its junior college section, member (for six years) of the San Mateo County Committee on School District Organization, president of the League of Women Voters of San Mateo, parliamentarian for the 17th district of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, and chairman of the San Mateo County "Town Meeting" on Crime and Delinquency.

Bill Would Return Fines

Legislation that would permit most of the fines and forfeitures collected as the result of traffic arrests in Foster City to be returned to the community is pending in Sacramento.

The bill would give public agencies such as the Estero Municipal Improvement District, the governing agency for Foster City, the same rights as cities in the distribution of such revenues. If adopted, 85 per cent of collections would be returned to Foster City and the county would retain 15 per cent.

Chief Gordon Penfold of the Foster City Department of Public Safety reported that in 1967 there were 987 citations for moving violations and 87 parking citations, for which $18,214 was paid in fines and forfeitures, and 80 arrests for drunken driving, bringing in an additional $20,000.

The County Board of Supervisors, asked to endorse the legislation, has referred the matter to County Manager E. R. Stall-

Woman Is Car Rent PR Head

A new departure in the auto rental industry is being initiated in San Mateo County this week with the appointment of Mrs. Ann Hyatt as public relations director for Thrifty Rent-A-Car at the firm's Northern California headquarters in Burlingame on Bayshore Boulevard. She will be the first woman to assume the responsibilities of this magnitude in the car rental business on the Peninsula.

Her responsibilities will include direct calls on those firms in the area that need immediate attention to their car rental requirements and will coordinate the firm's entire airport program, including transfers of luggage to and from air carriers for all Thrifty customers. Special emphasis will be given to those businesses and industries located within the several major industrial parks surrounding the airport.

Mrs. Hyatt, a resident of San Mateo, is no stranger to the car rental business. She was a stewardess for several years, in 1965 coming into the car rental business. Her previous experience has given her close contact with problems surrounding the industry that require direct and immediate decisions.

Chestmobile Comes To RC

Local residents 18 years of age and older may obtain a free chest X-ray Thursday and Friday in downtown Redwood City.

The mobile laboratory unit of the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association of San Mateo County will provide the service from 2 to 6 p.m. both days in front of the old courthouse on Broadway at Hamilton Street.

No advance appointment is necessary, and the procedure requires only a few moments. Annual chest X-rays are advised for early warning of such conditions as TB, lung cancer and enlarged heart.

R.C. Youngster Struck By Car

A Redwood City youngster was injured Saturday evening when he was struck by a car in the driveway of an apartment building at 1412 Middlefield Road, police report.

Admitted to Sequoia Hospital with a fractured left leg, multiple abrasions and facial cuts was Mark Allen Tadock, 4, a resident of the apartment building.

ia Basin Bridge Route and possibly fatal competi-n to Bay Area Rapid Transit ART).

San Francisco is already in k for a (BART) system that questionable at best. And the pose of BART is to get cars city streets," he added.

cording to Ryan, it is incon-sistent for San Francisco to argue in favor of an additional $160 million for a fixed railroad system to take cars off San Francisco streets, and at the same time, to argue for a bridge terminus which will cost $100 million more than the proposed crossing at Sierra Point in Brisbane and will dump 56,000 more cars per day into San Francisco where the streets are already choked with traffic.

"Either the proposed rapid transit system is based upon faulty logic or the present location of the bridge is wrong," Ryan explained.

North County Sea Scouts Chart New Active Course

Reorganization of a Sea Scout Explorer program, Sea Explorer Ship 829, is underway in South San Francisco, according to Skipper Robert Dutton.

Five young men recently were signed up during a monthly meeting at the Westmoor Park Clubhouse in Daly City. They are Mike Gerdes and Rich Music, South San Francisco, Jeff Hogan and Lennie Jaymot, San Bruno; and Mike Steinberg, Daly City. Boys must be 14 years of age or older and in high school. No previous scouting experience is needed or required, according to John Pollett, mate.

Saturday mornings at the Oyster Point Marina in South San Francisco the boys will begin learning rowing skills, knot tying and splicing, with Pollett as instructor.

Dutton has 21 years experience in the Merchant Marine.

The Saturday program will start the boys preparing for competition in the Old Salts Regatta at Foster City April 20-21. They will compete with ships from Belmont, Redwood City, San Mateo and Pacifica. The event is sponsored by the Sea Explorers and will include boat pulling, marlin spike, knots, signalling, sailing and the bucket brigade.

Boys interested in learning more about the program can leave their names, addresses and phone numbers at the harbor master office at Oyster Point Marina. Don Fagundes, Oyster Point harbormaster is on the South San Francisco Sea Scout committee. Ed Leahy, assistant harbormaster, is also on the committee.

Coast Hero Commended

A resolution commending George Feist, a young man credited with saving the lives of two boys at Linda Mar Beach March 10, was adopted at Wednesday's meeting of the Pacifica council.

The resolution credits Feist with "great courage and a disregard for his own safety" in rescuing the two youths from a heavy surf.

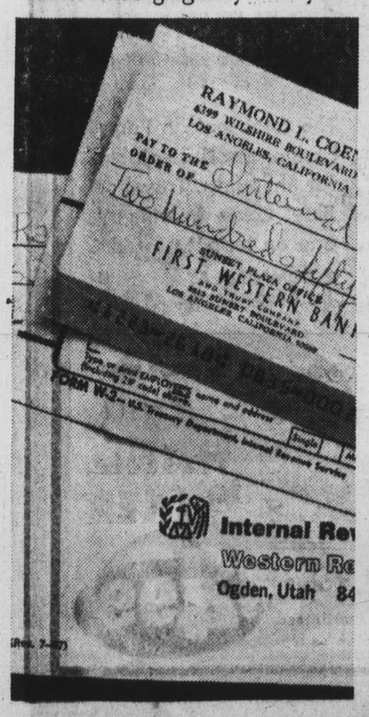
Uncle Sam doesn't accept credit cards

Uncle Sam wants a check that won't bounce. Like a No-bounce check from First Western Bank.

When you have a No-bounce account, First Western Bank becomes your automatic lending agency. So if you write a check for more money than you have in your account, our computer knows it and immediately makes a deposit to cover that check.



That deposit is really a loan, and naturally we expect you to pay it back. But there's no big rush. We'll even skip the monthly service charge if you pay us back before the next billing date.

This is why a No-bounce account is better than all the credit cards in the world put together. It's honored in many places a credit card isn't. It also puts cash in your pocket when emergencies arise.

By the way, April 15th is the most predictable emergency we know of. Give us a call while there's still time.

SOME DECORATING IDEAS

There are always changes taking place in the furniture and decorating fields, some lasting, others short-lived.

Manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and decorators keep a watchful eye on these changes which, in some cases, have a great effect on our buying habits and future home atmosphere.

Here are a few of these changes noted by various sources recently.

Manufacturers report that homemakers want wider choices in colors and patterns to add new excitement to rooms and they are offering new color and pattern ideas.

A recent award-winning room display added a new dimension to dining rooms. It is a dining room-library idea with one solid wall for books. Such a combination can be very attractive and useful.

More outdoor fabrics are being used indoors because of their "leisure look" and greater durability.

The "Total Look" in furnishing can now include everything in the room including even such things as window shades which used to always be white, gray or beige and gave a uniform appearance in all homes. Now shades come in all different colors, trims and designs to complement the pattern, texture and color of the walls, floors and furniture.

If you need help in coordinating your rooms please stop in and we will talk over your furnishing needs and desires without obligation.

And to see new ideas and a fine selection of furniture visit our showrooms.

Westlake Group Slates School Strategy Meeting

The Westlake Citizens Steering committee has called a district-wide meeting for 8 p.m., April 18 to map strategy in its continuing drive to bring to a halt construction of Serramonte High School in the Jefferson Union High School District.

Notice of the meeting came from Dr. Sanford A. Marcus, acknowledge leader of the committee, who said the meeting would be held at the Fernando Rivera Elementary School.

Marcus, in a special news release, stated the controversy involves the "runaway problem" of economics.

He pointed to last week's defeat of the "much-needed" San Mateo bond issue and a sharp cutback in state school support as evidence of an impending crisis that is overtaking the taxpayers in the district.

Dr. Marcus noted the state aid cutback "has already impaired the ability of the local elementary schools to pay their teachers adequately this year without the levy of higher property taxes, despite the fact that this is already the highest-taxed district in the county."

He added, "Yet, in seeming defiance of these warnings," the Jefferson Union High School Board — which governs high schools only — "plunges ceaselessly forward in the building of its $7-million Serramonte high school and in arranging for the fleet of buses that it will forever require."

He explained that the committee thinks teacher salaries should receive "priority, in order to keep the educational process operating."

Dr. Marcus declared, "That costly buldings and buses can wait is shown by the willingness of the teachers to endure staggered sessions at Westmoor high, starting this fall."

The committee, its spokesman said, "insists that the letting of contracts and all work on Serramonte should halt, pending a duscussion with the taxpayers on the issues of economy and of obtaining improved educational results for out tax dollars."

Repeated requests for a delay "of this extragant plan" while discussion was taking place have been ignored," Marcus stated.

Trustees "have likewise ignored out two alternative plans, calling for either the enlargement of Westmoor or the construction of a less-costly 'academic Serramonte' school," the committee charged.

Why Our Endorsements

San Bruno . . .

San Bruno voters must choose two councilmen from a field of six candidates.

A good choice for them would be the re-election of Incumbent Mayor Maurice K. Hamilton and the election of Attorney George R. Corey.

Hamilton is running "on my record" and it is an excellent record. During the eight years he has served on the council he has been faithful to his original platform policy which was "progress with economy" and San Bruno has benefited materially from that platform. He has been untiringly diligent in the interests of the city and his decisions have proved wise.

George R. Corey has offered the voters an honest statement of purpose by declaring, "My home, my family, and my business are in San Bruno and I want to play a more important part in this city's future." Corey is admirably qualified to do just that. As an attorney he can bring added legal knowledge to the city. He speaks out for added police protection, for a broader concept of recreational programming, and for greater public participation in public affairs. On the latter point he says, "government is created for the benefit of the people and the people do not function for the benefit of government."

Corey and Hamilton are the best choices for San Bruno.

Daly City . . .

The phenomenal growth of Daly City in the last decade has confronted that city with continuous problems that have called for a high level of municipal government. Fortunately for the people of Daly City they have had councilmen equal to the challenge. A thoughtful scanning of the city's financial statements and annual report, published last week, provides the proof.

Also, a slate of seven fine candidates for the two city council seats open at next Tuesday's city election is an augury of sustained civic interest and good local government in years yet to come.

Despite this fine field of candidates, it has not been difficult to arrive at a choice of the two most likely to continue the successful governmental policies and accomplishments that have distinguished Daly City. They are, of course, the two incumbent councilmen already on the job.

Councilman Francis P. Pacelli has been a leader in city government since 1957 and has more than ten years of experience in serving the people well. He has been a member of the council during the surging period of Daly City's growth and no man is better equipped to meet its new problems as they may arise. Voters don't have to ask about "Frank" Pacelli — they already know his record of achievement.

Councilman Anthony Giammona has been a member of the city's governing board since 1966 when he was selected by other councilmen to fill a vacated seat. His performance, as they expected, has been outstanding and has added to his stature as one of the best-known and best-liked citizens of Daly City.

His presence on the council by appointment, incidentally, is proof of the high calibre of the whole present council for he had been one of the unsuccessful candidates in 1964.

Because of their experience and because of their excellent records, Pacelli and Giammona should be re-elected to the Daly City council.

So. San Francisco . . .

With two veteran councilmen, Emilio Cortesi and Guido Rozzi, declining to seek re-election the South San Francisco city council race on April 9 will bring at least two new members to the council.

Three city council seats are open, but it is considered that Incumbent Councilman Frank Bertucelli, who has compiled an excellent record of accomplishment for the city, is virtually certain of re-election. Bertucelli was first named to the council in 1963 and won his first full term in 1964. A firm believer in the future of South San Francisco he has been in the forefront of local development and planning policies and in meeting the growing needs of a growing city. Especially noteworthy is his support of young people's programs in line with his thesis of "keeping the city in good hands when these young citizens are ready to take over."

With a field of good candidates for the other two council posts voters cannot go wrong, but analysis shows that two of them are particularly worthy.

One of them is former Police Chief Louis Belloni who has devoted a lifetime of service to the people of South San Francisco and who possesses a deep and broad knowledge of every facet of local problems. Sometimes gruff, but always plainspoken, Belloni can be depended upon to face every issue squarely and openly. Every city council needs men of that description.

Another outstanding candidate is Attorney David J. Friedenberg who, in addition to the advantages offered by his training in the law, offers to bring new thinking to the council. Vigorous and analytical, he has pinpointed some of the city's needs for better access between various parts of the city, for improved public transportation, and for more rapid progress on the redevelopment program.

The re-election of Frank Bertucelli, and the election of Louis Belloni and David Friedenberg can give South San Francisco voters an experienced and strong city council.

Pacifica . . .

The city of Pacifica, with seven candidates for the city council at the forthcoming municipal election, continues to have an alert and aware group of responsible citizens willing to serve their fellow citizens. They are to be commended.

But, as is often the case, there is good reason for the people of Pacifica to retain the two incumbent members of the council who are seeking re-election.

Mrs. Grace L. McCarthy, currently mayor of Pacifica, has become well and widely recognized in governmental circles wider than those of her own city as an extremely competent and conscientious councilwoman. She offers the citizens the advantage of complete familiarity with Pacifica and its problems because she has been a local resident since 1942 and has been active in civic and organizational work for many years. As a member of the council for the past four years she is well acquainted with all of the city's present problems and has the experience necessary to deal with them. She is an outspoken advocate of preserving Pacifica's many natural beauties and has practical, businesslike and feasible plans for obtaining this objective.

Incumbent Daniel J. Modena, an attorney, has been on the council for only five months, but it should be remembered that he won out over seven other candidates in a special election last November and is deserving of a full term to carry out his plans for improving the city's fiscal position by business development policies that will bring more sources of revenue. He should have the opportunity to demonstrate that his plans are sound and sensible.

Only two candidates can be elected. Grace McCarthy and Daniel Modena are the best choice.

Issue Misunderstood

It was not altogether apathy, and it may have been misunderstanding, that brought about a disappointing result in last week's special bond and tax permissive election for the San Mateo Junior College District.

This clearly suggests that the voters in these areas did not properly understand that the two separate measures on the ballot, the bond issue and the permissive tax increase, were closely linked together and largely interdependent. The net result, the passage of the permissive tax increase measure and the defeat of the much smaller bond issue, leaves the Junior College District in the extraordinary position of having ample funds to equip and operate the two much-wanted additional colleges in the southern and northern sectors of the county, but without the funds to complete these two additional colleges.

It is hard to believe that such a result was the intent of voters who clearly understood the intent of the two separate measures which were especially designed to be fair and to accomplish the needs of the district at the least possible expense to the taxpayers.

This is why an early resubmission of the bond issue is imperative.

Most urgently, the $3,100,000 bond issue needs to be passed because it is necessary to qualify for the $1,200,000 in federal funds that were contingent upon its passage. Even more urgently, it needs to be passed because this provides the only method for efficient and economical utilization of the funds provided by the permissive tax rate increase that did receive the approval of voters.

The only remedy is to give the voters another chance to approve the optimal program by which the Junior College District sought to offer the young people of the district higher education at the lowest cost.

Memories of Dooley

A flood of memories washed over me the other day as I sat chatting at the Press Club of San Francisco with Dr. Verne Chaney, president of the Tom Dooley Foundation, recently returned from the outback of Laos and Cambodia.

I knew Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, for whom the foundation was named, as well as anyone can get to know someone during a series of interrupted meetings and interviews over a two-year period. The funny thing was: not even Tom's friends really knew Tom.

The youthful individual who built clinics in the far-off country of Laos, and had dreams of stretching this medical link throughout the Middle and Far East with the thought of providing free (no strings attached) medical care for the people, was able to switch on "Tom Dooley — Nice Guy" or "Tom Dooley — Introvert."

In my association with Tom he was always "Mr. Nice Guy" right up until our last meeting in July 1961. He died from incurable cancer at age 34 shortly after. But in those 34 years Dooley crammed two centuries of living! He had little use for what he called "Ivory Tower" doctors, and wasn't overly enthusiastic about trained surgeons coming to his clinics on a volunteer basis to practice. He wanted only the type of medical people the military finds so valuable on the battlefront — the all-around medic.

DON'T MISUNDERSTAND, Dr. Dooley could perform whatever surgery was necessary, including amputations. He even assisted in his own surgery which disclosed he was dying from cancer.

Dooley was indeed a unique person. A Catholic, he never once tried to sway others into adopting his religious beliefs. An aggressive speaker, he campaigned endlessly for funds to carry on his work. Handsome and young, Dooley was fast becoming another Albert Schweitzer, an ideal to be admired by friends and enemies alike.

Sitting around the table in Tokyo, Dooley talked of many things on our last meeting: The future of his clinics was uppermost in his mind and he worried more about that than death itself. He had a hatred of death, not a fear. Death was an interruption of his work here and he openly resented it.

"Tom," I ventured cautiously, "you've lived almost a month past the maximum date they gave you after your last operation. Perhaps you can beat this thing."

"I'm a doctor. The surgeons who worked on me know what they are talking about. I'm going to die and there's no doubt at all. What I want to do before I die is to return to Laos and explain to the people there that my work will go on with others carrying the ball," Tom replied.

We both rose to leave, me going back to my office, Tom to catch a plane for Laos. I offered my right hand and without hesitation Tom took it with his right hand — the limb that was supposed to be useless from the last cancer operation. He again showed his distaste for his ailment.

DOOLEY WANTED absolutely nothing from the people he served, except perhaps their love. He first got a taste of the seemingly hopelessness of peasant life in the Far East when, as a military doctor, he went to assist the evacuation of refugees from Haiphon (now North Vietnam) in 1954. Following his discharge, Dooley scraped up a few dollars, went to Laos and started his clinic. It sounds easy, but it was uphill right to the day he died.

And Dr. Chaney will tell you it is still uphill all the way. The bigger the clinics grow, the bigger the problems and the budget needed to keep them growing.

Dooley once confided that he would rather have enough money to provide complete medical care for 100 persons than to give thousands "hit or miss one shot" treatment. To provide money for this project Dooley would stump the country from one end to another. He even talked the Kingston Trio into donating a percentage of their monies made from the recording "Hang down your head Tom Dooley, etc." (The recording concerned a murder suspect hanged in the mountains and had no connection with Dr. Dooley.)

The young doctor was also an author, having written three best sellers during his lifetime: "Deliver Us from Evil"; "Edge of Tomorrow"; and "The Night They Burned the Mountain."

Dooley left himself wide open for many icy blasts from "outsiders" who called him egotistical, self-centered and lacking humility.

"True, all true. If I don't believe in myself who will?" was Tom's favorite retort.

WHAT TOM DIDN'T KNOW was that people like Chaney, actress Shirley MacLaine, the late author Eugene Burdick, author Bill Lederer and an army of others, would take on the task of keeping his dream going.

"We are in no way a religious or political organization. We believe we can win the friendship of people by working beside them, humans-to-humans, towards goals they understand and seek themselves. Our instrument for this shall be medicine." Dr. Thomas A. Dooley.

Mad, Fun 'Old Ads'

"Well," writes my friend with the peculiar sense of humor, "What's new with the book worms?"

For him, I recommend "The Old Ads" edited by Dick Sutphen. It's mad and it's fun. Beginning with an inscription from the walls of the Roman City of Pompeii and continuing through 1900, this book contains several hundred actual ads of the past.

How about a health jolting chair that cures, among other things, sour stomach, headaches, and melancholy; or Pear's soap for dirty boys. It was made to improve their complexions and be a balm for their skin.

Then there was an electric brush that cured headaches, and neuralgia in five minutes and took care of baldness, dandruff, premature grayness and bilious trouble as well. All for $3.00 with a money back guarantee.

ONE AD APPEARED on a gravestone to inform the public that the widow of Jeremey Jobbins continues to carry on his tripe and trotter business. Another was an ad that read, "I hereby give notice to all unmarried women that I, John Hobnail, am at this writing five and forty, a widower, and in want of a wife. As I wish no one to be mistaken, I have a good cottage with a couple acres of land. I have five children . . .; three sides of bacon and some pigs ready for market. I should like a woman fit to take care of her house when I am out. I want no second family. A good sterling woman would be preferred, who would take care of the pigs."

I hope John got his woman.

New novels include "The Last Unicorn" by Peter Beagle whose books stamp him as a genuine nonconformist. His book has been called an adventure into the "literally fantastic, literally fabulous world of fairy tale, myth, dream, nightmare." And it really is about a unicorn.

Nona Coxhead's "The Monkey Puzzle Tree" has a psychedelic cover and a psychedelic heroine whose creator calls her "a spider in a complex web of love and hate, grasping and insatiable, snapping the strength from those who live around her."

"The Acid Nightmare" by M. E. Chaber tells of Johnny Blake whose first LSD trip was a good one. He saw things he never knew. The room was full of music that picked him up the way a giant wave might have done and made him feel that he was swimming.

But his second trip was a hideous nightmare of distorted people that ended in a murder charge.

ITS AUTHOR, M. E. Chaber has written numerous books of mystery and suspense. He is recognized for his ability to create characters that carry the story and for action that moves through the book. "The Acid Nightmare" might be his most significant book.

"Living Plants of the World" is a beautiful new picture book by Lorus and Margery Milne. There are 340 illustrations including 176 in splendid color.

This is a most useful book. Its authors are noted scientists. Their book is full of information that will be used as a source for term papers and reports for a long time.

SO THAT'S WHAT'S NEW!

Exit Laughing

Two sure-fire ingredients for a modicum of laughs are Jewish parents of a Bronx nebbish and an actor who forgets his lines.

"Enter Laughing" has that and more, at least enough of the required situations to keep the audience happy, although they know what is coming as sure as if it were spelled out in flourescent paint on the program.

Nothing subtle about the Joseph Stein adaptation of comedian Carl Reiner's early career. The jokes fall hot and heavy, the characters are right out of the Broscht circuit, the acting company within the acting company is a satire on the old stock companies where everyone postured and over-acted and emoted with histrionic fervor.

But the production offers a comic prelude to the Circle Star Theater's new legitimate season and for all its labored gags and situations (to say nothing of Danny Simon's most erratic direction), there's plenty to laugh with and about.

The current San Carlos offering suffers from poor timing. When the gags are dropping like matzah balls, there's a keen sense of apprehension in the theater. Between times, you could walk out in the lobby for a drink and not miss anything, there's that much of a lull in pace. To over-compensate, the actors shout and begin their lines out in the aisles which may make for total theater (meaning in every direction) but it takes one's attention away from the stage and what's happening there is lost in confusion.

IT'S A STOUT AND HEARTY CAST that centers around Remi Santoni, a stage-struck delivery boy who works in a sewing machine repair shop at day and rehearses (he has to pay the producer for the privilege) at night. The actor is the show's mainstay as he tries to affect the suave sophisticate while slumping around in oversized trousers, a satin monogramed high school jacket and a shock of unruly and ungroomed hair in his eyes.

Some of the best moments in the script, not so hot-shot funny as they are poignant, are when Herbie Faye and Kathleen Freeman, as the young man's parents are deciding on his future as a pharmacist and worrying about why he's out so late.

Sue Ane Langdon chews up the scenery as the peroxide blonde leading actress of a third rate stock company and she's a delight with every bite. Her attempts at seducing the inexperienced actor (he thinks that watching girls walk down the street means he's oversexed) are gems from the late night silent movies a la Theda Bara and Jean Harlow.

Jack Bernardi is a delight as the machine shop employer who can't keep up with his incorrigible young employee's excuses on why he comes in late and has to leave early. His consistency of timing and character leaves one with the optimistic impression that the production might smooth out and jell rather than wobble in every direction, as it did opening night.

Floyd Mutrux plays a ding-a-ling delivery boy with the same mental deficiency as did Michael J. Pollard as the get-away driver in "Bonnie And Clyde." They strongly resemble each other in appearance and character.

JEANNINE RILEY makes much of her brief role as Miss B., the helpful and well-endowed secretary who forces her date to remove his tuxedo so that her actor friend will have a costume.

The scene in which the clumsy would-be-actor defies his parents' and friends' advice against being in the play and makes his debut by knocking down the set, punching the lady in the stomach, upsetting the props and forgetting his lines, is almost worth the price of admission. I laughed 'til I cried.

Swift Plant Closing —It's End of an Era

By DON GRIERSON

April 8 will mark the end of an era for South San Francisco and the North Peninsula.

After 74 years of processing meat products for Northern California and such far-flung markets as Indonesia and the Philippines, the Swift Meat Packing Plant, dean of Peninsula industries, will close its doors for good.

Company spokesmen said this week the buildings and machinery at the plant are now obsolete, and officials have concluded renovation of the present operation would not be "financially expedient."

A new slaughtering and cutting plant scheduled to open at Stockton near the end of this year will process most of the animals from California ranches formerly served by the South San Francisco plant.

The company will also continue to operate its big "feeding plant" at Firebaugh, Calif.

The Swift plant led the long parade of industries which established South San Francisco as a major manufacturing center, and builders of the plant literally "laid out the town" for future development.

Gave City Name

Even the name of the city was derived from a precedent set by the great packing houses of Chicago, according to South San Francisco old-timers.

The meat processing plants there are located in an area known as "South Chicago."

The South San Francisco Land and Development Co., with Gustavus Swift of the famous Chicago meat packing family as a major stickholder. purchased the plant site and most of the area which comprises present day South San Francisco in 1891.

The packing house, under the name of Western Meat Company, opened in 1894, and has operated continually until the present.

The Swift name was attached to the plant in 1932, when the Chicago firm acquired all the assets.

500 Employed

As recently as this year, 500 persons were employed at the plant, and even the oldest employees cannot remember a time, even during the Great Depression, when full scale operations were not underway.

"In fact, we were busier during the thirties than at any other time," Roy F. Booher, a clerk at the plant since 1926, said this week.

"The government was buying up hogs during the drought of 1932 and 1933, and we had more than 1,000 workers operating on two shifts," he said.

Recalling the heydays at the old packinghouse, Booher and two other longtime employees Lawrence Imprescia, a sausage maker, and Vera McDonnell, an office worker, said the methods of operation have changed considerably during the past 40 years, "but the end products have remained about the same."

"It used to take from 30 to 60 days to cure a ham," Booher said, "that is, to get it from the cutting room to the smoke house. Now, it takes about two hours."

Today the "curing" process is brought about with the use of chemicals, instead of aging, he explained.

Imprescia said there have also been significant changes in the processing of sausage and other products.

Linked by Hand

"When I first started working here, we linked sausage by hand," he said. "Now, there are machines which do the linking."

In the early days at the plant, before the advent of refrigerated rail cars and truck vans, the company operated its own ice plant in South San Francisco, and workers "iced down" the freight cars before loading them.

The Swift company pioneered much of the work in perfecting refrigerated rail cars, and the icing procedure was phased out many years ago.

When Mrs. McDonnell, Booher and Imprescia began working at the Swift plant in the 1920s, there were only three other industries in the city: a steel mill and two other meat packing houses.

Today, the old Swift buildings are surrounded by several hundred manufacturing and processing plants in a modern industrial park.

A small sales office will be maintained at the site after the plant is closed, according to the current manager, Forrest Winkler.

A number of workers will also be retained after the plant closes to assist in dismantling the machinery.

Will Transfer

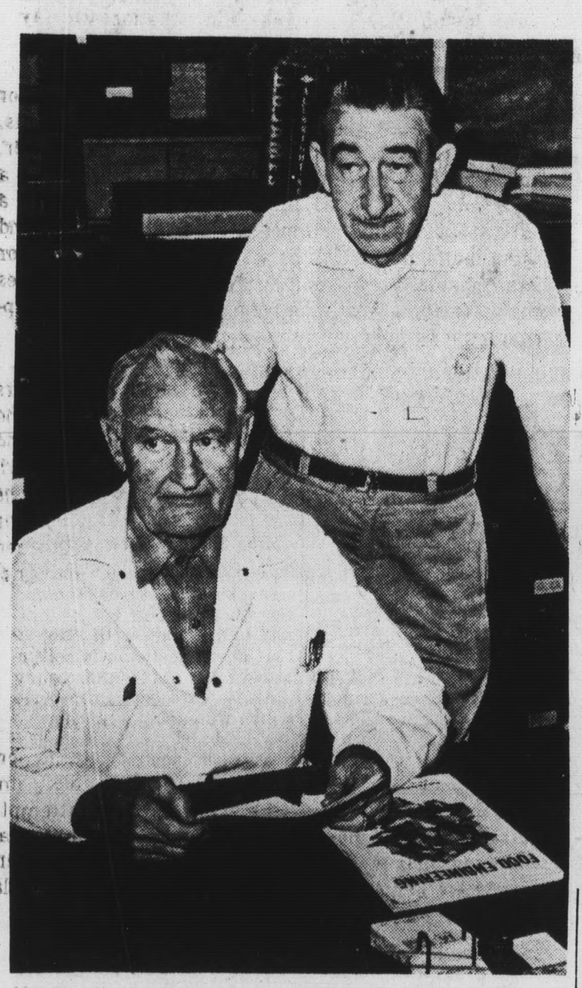
Of the other employees, several are expected to transfer to the new Stockton plant when it opens, according to company spokesmen.

Both Booher and Mrs. McDonnell plan to retire next month, and Imprescia, who has "six more years to go," expects to work in San Francisco's Butchertown.

"There is apparently no shortage of jobs for workers in the meat processing trades right now," Imprescia said.

Winkler said the Swift plant site will be placed on the market for sale soon after operations cease, and it will presumably be purchased by another manufacturing concern.

MRS. VERA McDONNELL has been keeping track of work time, vacations and employee records at the Swift plant in South San Francisco more than 40 years. Like clerk Roy Booher, she plans to retire when the old meat packing house closes next week.



AFTER 74 YEARS of continuous operation, the Swift Meat Packing Plant, South San Francisco's oldest industry, will close its doors for good April 8. Company officials said the old plant's machinery, which dates from 1894, has become obsolete, and renovation at this time would be useless. A new operation scheduled to open near the end of the year at Stockton will partially replace the meat processing facility here, and the company's "feeding plant" at Firebaugh will remain open. The South San Francisco site will soon be up for sale.

ROY F. BOOHER, seated, and Lawrence Imprescia have been employed at the Swift plant in South San Francisco since the 1920s. Booher will retire when the plant closes next Monday, and Imprescia plans to work in San Francisco's Butchertown. (Post photo)

Limit On Council?

McRobert (Mac) Stewart, candidate for Daly City councilman in the upcoming April 9 race, said today he advocates limiting the term of office for councilmen to two terms.

Speaking before a local group, Stewart said, "A councilman's term of office should be limited to two terms in order to encourage more citizens to participate in city government.

"An incumbent is difficult to unseat; he has a built-in advantage over any challenger by virtue of the powers which guarantee him full exposure before the public whenever he acts in an official capacity. What this means is that many fine qualified citizens are discouraged at the outset from running for public office," Stewart said.

He said this also means that the great majority of citizens do not exercise their voting rights "not necessarily because of a lack of interest, but mainly because of a prevailing feeling the incumbent can not be defeated."

His biggest concern, Stewart said, is the complacency which sometimes sets in when councilmen serve too long.

"In my own opinion, the incumbent council has sometimes forgotten its obligation to represent the people. A serious case in point is the car wash that was built across from an elementary school despite the protests of hundreds of citizens."

"I firmly believe," Stewart concluded, "that a limitation on the term of office would help to establish a healthy respect for the voice of the people and thereby insure proper and faithful representation."

Stewart, a local lumberman and resident of Daly City for the past 18 years, is chairman of the planning commission and has served on that board for eight years. The City Council election is Tuesday, April 9.

What's 'Par Celling"?

QUESTION: What is meant by "Par" selling?

ANSWER: FHA states "Par" Selling is considered to exist in any case where the salesman, rather than the dealer, establishes the selling price of a home improvement job to the buyer. In other words, it means that the dealer who contracts to do the work, quotes a basic price to his salesman, but permits the salesman to charge the customer any price over that figure. The dealer and salesman, in some cases, split the difference. Better Business Bureau condemns this type of selling as does FHA who considers the use of "Par" selling sufficient basis for the institution of precautionary measures against offenders. FHA will refuse to insure loans initiated by dealers who consider to do the same.

QUESTION: I mailed an installment payment check to a finance company two days before the date it was due. Because the Post Office took two days to deliver the check I received a penalty charge. I do not feel that I should have to pay such charges as it was the Post Office's fault.

ANSWER: Finance companies are often very strict about the money being in their office on the date payment is due. The Post Office does not guarantee delivery of mail at any specific time. I am afraid it is up to you to allow sufficient time.

QUESTION: What is the meaning of DuPont "501"?

ANSWER: DuPont "501" is a certification mark DuPont awards to carpets made of its nylon fibers which meet or exceed five quality standards. A carpet manufacturer must submit tests for (1) fiber content, (2) pile weight, (3) pill and fuzz resistance, (4) light fastness, (5) backing. The manufacturer is then furnished with "501" labels supplied by DuPont for this particular carpeting. Customers wanting this type of carpeting should look for a DuPont "501" certified weight mark on the carpeting. A label "501" alone means absolutely nothing.

QUESTION: I bought a bedspread from a well known store. Two days after another store advertised an identical bedspread for almost half the price I paid. I feel that I was overcharged and the store should make some sort of an adjustment.

ANSWER: The BBB is not a price-regulating agency. The Bureau would be interested in prices charged only in the event that the buyer failed to get what an advertiser promised at the quoted or advertised prices. Prices charged in a competitive society are out of the Bureau's bailiwick excepting where misrepresentation is a factor.

QUESTION: What do the terms "irregulars" or "seconds" mean when used in advertising women's hosiery.

ANSWER: Irregulars are hosiery having only minor imperfections while seconds are hosiery containing runs, obvious mends or defects in material or construction.

Candidates Ask Reform In San Bruno

San Bruno City Treasurer Candidate William G. Schroder and San Bruno Council Candidate Dick Griffith told a joint coffee gathering of more than 30 community leaders and neighbors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sandkulla, 1690 Parkview Drive, that many fiscal reforms are urgently need in San Bruno municipal government.

Schroder stressed the need for a revitalization of the Treasurer's office procedures to provide maximum precision in fund accountability as well as more profitable investment of City funds.

Griffith explained the manner in which water fund surpluses had been, he felt, wrongly used in lieu of property tax at a substantial penalty to the homeowner while spearing the holder of undeveloped land. The candidate pointed out the necessity for making sure undeveloped land bears its full share of the tax load in order to encourage its development to broaden the tax base.

Both candidates indicated that better cost accounting procedures, promptly instituted, would free additional funds for expansion of recreational and other services.

In a joint statement, Schroder and Griffith were careful to explain that their joint appearance "implied neither mutual nor unilateral endorsement of candidacies" but grew out of "a common recognition of the need for widest possible public exposure for challengers."

Griffith said he had already tried to arrange joint kaffee klatsches with two other City Council candidates, was still negotiating with one of them, and "was open to such an invitation even from supporters of Mayor Hamilton." Schroder said he hoped to reciprocate by inviting Griffith to one of the coffee meetings planned by his staff.

The 63,000-ton flattop and her 4,000-man crew will pass under the Golden Gate Bridge at 9 a.m. Saturday and dock at Alameda Naval Air Station.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

Brush After Meals

Brushing after meals not only helps to remove food particles from which decay acids are formed, but also helps to remove the bacteria that are responsible for producing the acid. So get in the habit of brushing after every meal.

Brush Thoroughly

Even if you brush after every meal, success in preventing decay won't be achieved unless you brush thoroughly. Use a good toothbrush that is in good condition.

Please ask your dentist about proper brushing of teeth.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extraction for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth, as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Serramonte Reservoir Is Dedicated

Serramonte's new 1.5 million gallon water storage reservoir was dedicated during brief ceremonies in Daly City last week.

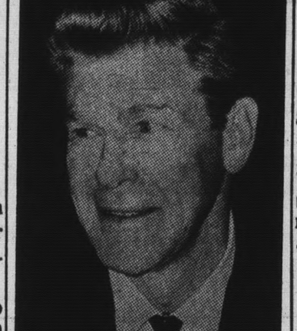
The reservoir is designed to help offset the projected two million gallon daily water consumption at the 986-acre Serramonte housing tract once the site is fully developed.

Cost of the new facility was $159,266 — about ten cents per gallon of storage capacity.

Made of pre-stressed concrete, the reservoir is one of three such facilites planned for the Serramonte area. All three will be connected to the existing Daly City water system to maintain continuity of pressure and storage levels and will also be controlled through the Water Department's remote control system.

City councilmen made a thorough examination of water needs and facility costs prior to endorsing the project.

Design and architectural requirements were accomplished by the city's engineering and water departments, according to City Engineer Arthur Reschke, with construction by Gunther-Shirley-E.M. Prenn Construction Company.



Warren A. Steinkamp

Steinkamp In Council Race in S.S.F.

Former South San Francisco Planning Commission Chairman Warren A. Steinkamp is seekihg a seat on the city council in next week's municipal election.

In a platform statement this week, Steinkamp promised to work for street improvements, additional recreational facilities and lower property taxes.

"We must eliminate traffic congestion by improving streets, creating more parking facilities and developing more adequate means of transportation," he said.

"We must seek to lower property taxes by broadening our tax base and by updating the methods and procedures in city hall to insure economy in government," the candidate stated.

Steinkamp also said the city's community facilities are "inadequate for a rowing population."

He has also stated that "The people of South San Francisco should know what their city government is doing, and they sould know where to get information and action on legitimate problems."

"When elected to the city council, one of my highest priorities will be to help establish better lines communication among the people, their public offices, and city hall," Steinkamp said.

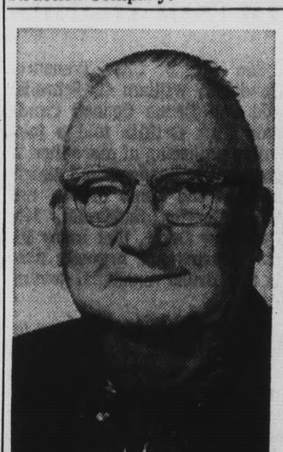
In addition to his five years' service on the planning commission, Steinkamp has also served as a member of the Park and Recreation Commission and the San Mateo County Planning Council.

He participated in development and adoption of the General Plan and the Planned Community Ordinance in South San Francisco, and has also served as president of the Winston Manor Homeowners' Association.

A native of San Francisco, Steinkamp has resided in South San Francisco 16 years. He attended the San Francisco public schools; City College of San Francisco and the University of California, where he studied city and county planning.

He is an executive committeeman for the San Francisco Naval Shipyard Employes' Association.

Steinkamp is married, and lives with his wife and family at 48 Duval Drive.



Sam M. Alford

Alford In S.S.F. Race

Retired attorney Sam M. Alford is one of nine candidates seeking three seats on the South San Francisco Council in the April 9 elections.

A native of Florida, Alford has resided in South San Francisco about eight years, and is a retired claims adjudicator for the Veterans' Administration.

He is a navy veteran of World War II.

In his platform statement this week, Alford promised to work for a new municipal swimming pool in South San Francisco "if funds are available or can be made available."

The candidate also said he would work to expand the city's "excellent fire department" to give needed protection to residents of the many new subdivisions."

"If I am elected next week, any resident of this city who needs to meet with a councilman to discuss his problems will find me readily available," he said.

Alford is married, and resides on Briarwood Drive with his wife.

'Too Few Men' to Check Shipments Through Airport

Not only snakes, but live grenades, submachine guns, switchblade knives and pounds of marijuana are being shipped into the United States from Viet Nam, through such points as San Francisco International Airport.

This was part of the testimony Monday in Washington D.C., as the Customs Bureau asked a Congressional appropriations subcommittee for more funds to hire new inspectors.

In a one-day test a month ago, a Customs inspector said, every package coming into the San Francisco International Airport Air Mail Facility from overseas was opened and inspected.

Normally, he said. Customs inspectors only open packages which look suspicious, or which arouse their curiosity, or seem to be over-valued. This amounts to about 10 per cent of the total, he said .

But, in one 24-hour period, every local customs agent was put on the single job of opening mail, and every package was inspected.

The result was a bonanza of prohibited material as well as a huge mound of taxable items being mailed into the country without proper tariffs being paid, he stated.

With a huge number of Americans now serving in Southeast Asia the bulk of material comes from that area, the Customs spokesman said.

Soldiers, sailors, and Marines mail home war souvenirs that range from bloody banners to perilous explosives.

Others ship home undeclared bolts of silk, packages of marijuana and jewelry.

The customs man said the "test opening" had been carried on at two ports, and had resulted in similar findings in both cases.

This indicates, he said, that a great deal of illegal and often dangerous material may be entering the country because there are not enough customs inspectors to open every package all the time.

"Absolutely amazing," said Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., after Commissioner Lester D. Johnson told a House Appropriations subcommittee about the tests at San Francisco and New York. He didn't say when the tests were made.

Guilty Plea On Welfare

Mrs. Sharon Marie O'Brien, 29, of 60 Paloma, Pacifica, has been placed on 90 days' summary probation on her plea of guilt to a welfare fraud charge. The district attorney's office charged that she failed to report to the welfare department that a man was living in her home. Restitution of $111 was made prior to sentencing.

Laguna Art Education Workshops Are Underway

A series of five workshops in art education are currently underway for teachers in the Laguna Salada School District. The sessions are funded by the Dixie Institute for Educational Research in a study of the effectiveness of consultant service in the area of fine arts.

Laguna Salada officials report that the sessions are being actively attended by elementary teachers of all levels. Held at the art department area of Oceana High School on weekday evenings, the workshops are highlighting the areas of textile design, ceramics, printing and painting.

According to Marvin Morganti, consultant for the elementary district and coordinator of the project, an evaluation of the program will be made at the conclusion of the series to determine the degree of classroom emphasis and improvement in art instruction.

William LaForge, art instructor at Oceana High School, is serving as the visiting consultant for the series. Along with LaForge, other members of his department, as well as art supply company representatives, are leading the teachers in this unique opportunity.

Video tape recordings of the demonstrations by the consultants are being made by a crew of Oceana student cameramen under the leadership of teacher Layton Jones. These tapes will become the property of the elementary district and may be used subsequently for continuing art instruction of an in-service nature.

Membership: Pastor Plans New Class

Sunday morning, during the Sunday School Hour, Pastor A. David Donnelly will begin a new pastor's class for church membership orientation, for adults and youth.

The purpose of this class is to acquaint those who are interested in knowing what the Baptist Church teaches; something about the Baptist General Conference; requirements for membership in Westside Baptist Church.

Thirteen age-graded and Bible-centered classes meet each Sunday morning at 9:45 a.m. for an hour of instruction and inspiration. Attendance records have been broken during the past month, and formation of new classes is expected.

"A Divine Appointment" is the topic chosen by Pastor Donnelly for the 11 Morning Worship Hour message. This is another in the continuing series of messages from the book of II Corinthians. Special music for this service will be provided by the Male Quartette. During the adult worship service, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson, assisted by several lay persons, conduct the Primary Church service for boys and girls four through seven years of age. Also during the worship hour, a nursery is provided for toddlers and babies.

Sunday evening, at the 7 o'clock family fellowship gospel hour, the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed.

Special music will be provided by the Mixed Quartet and Pastor Donnelly will bring a communion devotion, "What Difference?"

Pastor Donnelly is to conduct a class in visitation and personal evangelism during the 6:15 p.m. Youth Fellowship Hour. This is for adults and youth who are interested in doing evangelistic calling, survey calling, and personal work. These classes will continue through May 19 in preparation for the Spring Evangelistic Thrust with the Rev. John MacArthur of Talbot Theological Seminary, LaMirada, May 24 to 26.

On April 9 at 9:30 a.m., the women's Bible Class meets at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, 533 Hickey Boulevard (Fairmond), Pacifica, with Mrs. Barbara DeLung the teacher.

Saturday at 8 a.m. the men's prayer fellowship will meet at the church parsonage, 3370 Longview Drive, San Bruno.

Today at 7:30 p.m., the mid-week Prayer and Bible Study Hour is held at the church parsonage, 3370 Longview Drive, San Bruno. Pastor Donnelly is now leading in the study of the book of Isaiah.

Westside Baptist Church hold their Sunday services at the San Andreas School, Inverness Drive and Hickey Boulevard (Fairmont), Pacifica. The church is actively affiliated with the Baptist General Conference (Swedish Baptist Conference).
